Grocery Prices Decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Grocery dollars aren't going quite as far as they were a month ago.

The Ohio Associated Press Marketbasket survey — a price check on 16 standard items among stores of 15 cities — was up 3.5 per cent at the end of September over the previous month.

The average price of items checked rose to $23.72 from $22.92 a month earlier. The price averages had declined the past three months after rising the previous nine months.

Current prices compare with $19.17 a year ago; $18.60 two years ago and $17.86 three years ago.

Average prices were higher on 13 of the items checked and declined on two items. The average cost of a head of lettuce remained unchanged over the month at 53 cents.

Ten pounds of white potatoes, which recorded a dramatic 35 per cent average drop a month ago, rose 13.5 per cent on the latest check to an average of $1.09. Potato prices ranged from 69 cents at Conneaut to $1.39 at Salem.

Three pounds of name-brand coffee, the principal culprit in some recent sharp price hikes, rose 4.8 per cent in the latest check, compared to a 2.9 per cent decline the previous month. The latest average is $10.26, with extremes ranging from $9.36 to $10.95.

Lower prices were reported for a pound of chuck roast, down two per cent at $1.00, and for whole frying chicken, per pound, down eight per cent at 57 cents.

Hamburger per pound rose 7.5 per cent and center cut pork chops went up 2.2 per cent per pound. A half-gallon of whole milk was up 5.1 per cent to 74 cents; a pound of margarine, in sticks, was up 3.4 per cent to 60 cents, and 12 ounces of peanut butter rose 2.6 per cent to 77 cents.

Five pounds of granulated sugar rose 3.1 per cent to 98 cents and a dozen medium white eggs rose 3.1 per cent to 66 cents.

A 49 ounce pack of detergent rose 2.8 per cent to $1.46; a 14½ ounce pack of chocolate chip cookies rose 2 per cent to 98 cents and 12 ounces of frozen orange juice was up five per cent at 82 cents.

Fresh tomatoes went up as the summer season neared an end. The average cost of 60 cents per pound compares with 55 cents a month earlier, an increase of nine per cent.

Youngstown reported the sharpest increase by per cent among reporting cities. Average cost among stores there for the 16 items was $24.21, up eight per cent over the previous average of $22.40.

Prices in Massillon were up 7.9 per cent over the previous month to $21.38. Salem's average was up 6.5 per cent, to $22.94, and in Cleveland it was up 5.7 per cent to $24.15. Price averages in Fremont rose 3.4 per cent. Averages in Columbus went up 1.5 per cent to $24.01 and in Toledo it went up 1.17 per cent, to $22.41. Other cities reporting fractionally higher prices were Findlay, up .8 per cent at $23.58 and Cincinnati, .08 per cent at $24.85.

Cities reporting declining prices over the month, and per cent of difference, included: Athens, $24.57, 1.2 per cent; Chillicothe $23.98, .2 per cent; Conneaut, $23.00, 2.1 per cent; Portsmouth $24.68, .24 per cent; Steubenville $24.76, 3 per cent, and Van Wert, $22.87, 5.4 per cent.

Instant Vote Supported

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state's election day voter registration law, which faces a challenge from opponents in the Nov. 8 general election, has picked up support from The American Civil Liberties Union of Ohio.

The law, passed earlier this year by the General Assembly, would effectively be repealed if a constitutional amendment, appearing as Issue No. 1 on the ballot, is approved.

The Ohio ACLU's board of directors met here over the weekend and voted to oppose passage of Issue No. 1, executive director Benson A. Wolman said.

The board countered opponents' charges that the election day registration provision of the law could lead to widespread fraud.

"Election day voter registration has been proved a fair, effective and safe means of encouraging citizens to exercise the most sacred of democratic rights — the right to vote," board members said in statement released Sunday.

If Issue No. 1 is approved by voters, said the board, it will "mean a return to the days of major-party manipulation of elections by making it harder for the average citizen to vote."

"A 'no' vote is necessary to secure voting rights for thousands of Ohio citizens — especially workers, the poor, the aging and those in both urban and rural areas.

Consumer Expert Opens Consulting Firm For Business

NEW YORK (AP) — After eight years of representing consumers in the White House, Virginia Knauer is trying to teach businessmen some of the lessons she learned about the American shopper.

She has opened a Washington-based consulting agency to help companies and individuals deal with the demands and needs of consumers in areas ranging from product complaints to environmental worries.

In a recent interview, Mrs. Knauer said businesses are concerned primarily with "how better to communicate with the consumers. Banks are interested in how better to explain to women depositors how to take advantage of the new laws (on women and credit) ... The utilities are interested in how to get consumer reaction on variable rates. ..."

Mrs. Knauer said the attitude of business has changed since she joined the federal government. She said there was an "early resistance ... to changes to accommodate the consumer point of view."

During her time in the White House, she said, "I saw a complete coming around to the realization ... that the smart businessman, when he used consumerism as another innovative marketing tool, would find it financially beneficial."

While inflation is still the single most important concern of consumers, Mrs. Knauer said there have been some changes in attitude. There is "a growing sophistication," not only in terms of buyers' rights, but in terms of what those rights will cost, she said. "Consumers are becoming sophisticated enough (to know) that when they ask for certain new protection, they're going to pay for it, not manufacturers (who) pass on these costs."

Mrs. Knauer, whose government title was director of the Office of Consumer Affairs and special assistant to the president for consumer affairs, was criticized during her tenure for what some felt was her favoring of the voluntary approach to consumer protection while not pushing strongly enough for legislative action.

She said she still believes in encouraging businesses to act on their own to protect consumers, although "the good (of possible legislative action) always should be there."

Mrs. Knauer also came under attack from some activists for switching her position on an independent agency for consumer affairs. She supported such an agency, then, when President Ford proposed instead the creation of consumer representation divisions within existing departments, changed her view.

She said she is convinced that Ford was right. "I think the time has come and gone as far as the agency bill is concerned," she said, noting that proposals for such an agency — supported by President Carter — have run into unexpectedly strong opposition this year.

Mrs. Knauer also contended that while the Carter administration has the image of being more attuned to consumer interests than its predecessors, consumers actually have less of a voice than before.

She noted that she served on several Cabinet-level bodies such as the Cost of Living Council and said her successor, Esther Peterson, does not seem to have that kind of input in making.

Japanese Capitulation Condemned

DACCA, Bangladesh (AP) — An American missionary among the hostages freed from the hijacked Japanese airliner condemned the Japanese government's capitulation to the demands of the five terrorists.

Jenabe Caldwell, 51, of Anchorage, Alaska, said the 4½-day ordeal aboard the plane was "pretty horrendous, terribly, terribly brutal, but I wouldn't have let those guys go."

"The minute we give in to criminals we're finished, and that's just what we're doing," said Caldwell in a telephone interview from the Holy Family Hospital.

"While I was on the plane, I thought, 'This is war, and even if we're casualties, we shouldn't give into it.'"

"Somewhere we've got to have enough guts to stand up for what we believe in."

Caldwell, a missionary for the Bahai sect, said the five hijackers were "mostly boys," but "anyone who thinks these Commies were playing games, they should have been on that plane."

"These guys called it war and I agree," he continued. But "they didn't want to die; they wouldn't have blown up the plane with themselves on it. They were too cocky for that."

Caldwell said the ordeal aboard the plane was "pretty horrendous. ... You were living in your own hell, the lack of air, the stench, the complete unjustified brutality."

"I thought I had lived under pretty tough conditions, but this was the toughest living I've ever had. And for others it was much worse."

"I saw a Saudi man pistolwhipped twice. Other passengers were clubbed on the head. It was unjustified. We were all cooperating. There was no rhyme or reason to it."

Caldwell said he was hospitalized for acute constipation and a painful back ailment. He said he was leaving the hospital today and planned to fly to Bangkok.

Terrorists Land In North Africa

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — A Japanese jetliner under the command of five hijackers and carrying $6 million ransom, 19 hostages and six other terrorists landed in Algiers today after an overnight, two-stop journey from Bangladesh, government officials said.

An official communique said landing permission had been given "at the express demand of the Japanese government and for humanitarian reasons."

But there was no immediate indication how the Algerians would handle the situation.

The Japan Air Lines plane touched down at 2:20 p.m. local time (10:20 a.m. EDT), airline officials said.

One American was among the captives still aboard the plane.

The hijackers, believed looking for asylum in a sympathetic country, had commandeered the DC8 over India last Wednesday, forced it to land in at Dacca in neighboring Bangladesh, where they released most of their hostages. After a 4½-day siege, they took off from Dacca Sunday, stopping in Kuwait and Damascus, Syria, refueling and freeing more hostages on the way.

There was speculation that if Algeria refused to give the terrorists refuge, they would turn to Libya or South Yemen, two Arab countries with radical governments which have accepted hijackers and other terrorists in the past. The hijackers are members of the ultraleftist Japanese Red Army, which works closely with the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

The take off from the Syrian capital had been delayed while Japanese and Syrian officials tried to get more hostages released, but the hijackers refused and ordered the pilot to take off.

There had been 156 persons aboard when the terrorists seized control of the Paris-to-Tokyo plane early Wednesday after it took off from Bombay.

The hijackers freed 115 of their hostages in Dacca, seven more in Kuwait and 10 in Damascus. This left 12 captive passengers and the crew of seven aboard along with the five hijackers and six terrorists freed from Japanese prisons in response to the hijackers' demands. The Japanese government also paid a ransom of $6 million.

Twelve Americans were aboard the plane when it was hijacked, the airline said. Nine were freed in Dacca and two in Damascus, leaving one still aboard today. The airline identified him as Thomas Phelan, 29, of San Francisco, a State Department employee.

Two other Californians, William D. McLean, 46, of Alamo, and Eric Weiss, 30, of San Francisco, were freed along with eight Japanese passengers in Damascus. McLean is executive vice president of a tugboat and barge company.

The airline sent a plane from Tokyo to Dacca today to fly the freed hostages to Bangkok en route to Tokyo.

The hijackers were believed to have boarded the plane in Bombay and were armed with automatic weapons, grenades and plastic explosives.

Canal Treaty Buffeted By Million Dollar Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's aides, buffeted in a million-dollar fight against the new Panama Canal treaty, say they can't swing back with the kind of punches their opponents are throwing.

But they are confident they can save the treaty from a beating.

"We can't buy media advertising out of the White House," muttered Landon Butler, a deputy presidential assistant. "You can't do that as an agency of the government."

Joe Aragon, a special assistant to the president, said, "We want to make sure it doesn't look like we're carrying off some kind of a propaganda campaign."

That shoe, Aragon said, is on the other foot.

The two White House aides, both on top assistant Hamilton Jordan's task force to win Senate ratification of the treaty, spoke in a recent interview. What are they doing, they were asked, to counter the campaign, mostly by conservatives, against the treaty?

The opposition, both agreed, is formidable.

Conservative groups are bombarding key members of the Senate with mass media advertising aimed at constituents back home.

The conservative arsenal includes an avalanche of antitreaty mail, a television documentary, "fact sheets" on the Panama Canal, protests against the treaty and "truth squads" of prominent treaty opponents traveling around the country to mobilize opinion against Senate ratification.

The biggest guns include former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., opposing the treaty at every opportunity, aided by groups like "Reagan's Rough Riders," proposed as "an expeditionary force of volunteers" to keep the canal under American control.

In all, the conservatives say their effort probably will cost more than $1 million.

Landon and Aragon say their counter effort centers on a series of briefings for "opinion leaders" in swing states sent to the White House by senators whose votes will be crucial to ratification of the treaty.

"They'll go back and will have heard our side of the story in great detail so that it won't be that fertile a ground for the opposition out there. You'll have people who'll be saying, 'Look, I know what that's about — that's not the whole truth.'"

In addition to the briefings, which are the centerpiece of the administration's effort to "educate" the public, Butler and Aragon are collecting treaty endorsements from a host of people:

George Meany, John Wayne, Alf Landon, William Buckley, Henry Kissinger, Dean Rusk, Gerald Ford, and more than two dozen one-time U.S.

ambassadors to Latin America.

While Butler and Aragon are "educating the public," Carter's chief lobbyist, Frank Moore, is "educating" senators directly; and the State Department is sending speakers to wherever anti-treaty brush fires need to be extinguished.

The White House Press Office is arming editors with press kits about the canal.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale briefed the Jaycees.

And the President himself has talked about having a fireside chat on the treaty. While no date has been set, Butler and Aragon say the session is still on.

Lillian Carter Will Visit Dublin, Ireland

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Lillian Carter, the President's mother, will be among 250 Iowans on a good-will flight to Dublin, Ireland, next month.

The Friendship Force program was begun in 1973, when President Carter was governor of Georgia. Friendship Force officials in Iowa said "Miss Lillian," as she is known in her home town of Plains, Ga., was among about 700 persons considered for the Nov. 8 trip.

An organizer said those selected for the trip were sorted by their occupations, and then names were drawn from a hat.

Sheriff's Deputies Check Three Injury Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated two injury accidents over the weekend.

The first occurred at 2:45 p.m. Saturday on Darby Creek Road, eight-tenths of a mile north of Scioto Darby Road.

According to the report, Tony R. Shaffer, 19, of Jefferson Ohio, was southbound on Darby Creek Road and was rounding a curve to the left when the right tires on his car dropped onto the berm. Shaffer brought the car back onto the roadway but it swerved left of center and went off the left side of the road. The vehicle travelled across a ditch and driveway at 11808 Darby Creek Road, and continued across the yard of the residence striking a small tree. The car then plunged down an embankment into the next yard, struck a tree and became airborne, finally coming to rest wedged between two trees.

Shaffer was treated for an abrasion to the right forearm, a lacerated chin, and a chipped tooth. Passengers in his car who were injured were Maylon Brown Jr., 17, Orient, and Michael J. Gossard, 23, Derby. Brown was taken to Mt. Carmel West Hospital in Columbus by the Harrisburg Emergency Squad, where he was treated for a possible fracture of the left leg. Gossard was treated and released for abrasions to the right forearm and the right side of his face.

According to the report, Allen C. Ett, 16, of 8895 South Bloomfield-Royalton Road, Ashville, was southbound on Walnut Creek Pike and swerved to miss a car ahead of him that had stopped to turn east onto Ashville-Fairfield Road.

When Ett swerved his auto, it ap-

Ett suffered abrasions and was treated at Berger Hospital and released.

give it up, but I just couldn't keep going. I can't see and the hearing is bad."

Mayer's professional life stretched over hundreds of thousands of miles and thousands of lives. He helped bring close to 7,000 babies into the world, most in their homes and many by coal oil lamp.

Although Nevin is not a very common first name, there are more than 50 Nevins in the hills of Holmes and Wayne counties — all delivered by Mayer and named in his honor.

Delivering seven babies in a single day wasn't unusual for the country doctor. His late wife, Mabel, would hurry to the home of the expectant mother and begin preparations. He would arrive to deliver the baby, and his wife would move on to prepare the next woman.

Mayer traveled from home to home by horse and buggy until 1920, when he bought his first car. In more difficult times, the doctor used a sled, milk wagon, boat and manure spreader to get to the homes of patients.

Once he delivered a baby in the back of an Amish buggy as they were crossing the county line. He was so busy he had to guess which county to put on the birth certificate.

The standard charge for delivering a baby was $25 for years.

Mayer says antibiotics are the biggest advance he has seen since his practice began.

"If we'd had antibiotics in 1918, we probably wouldn't have had the 25 million deaths around the world from influenza," he said.

The doctor remembers wearing out three horses driving 50 miles in one day to treat flu patients years ago.

The doctor is well-liked in the community where Mayer-Carson community hall is named after him and the late Jeff Carson, a friend who owned the pharmacy in town.

ACS Names President

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Thomas D. Stevenson, professor of pathology at Ohio State University's College of Medicine, is the new president of the Ohio division of the American Cancer Society.

Stevenson, 53, of Delaware, was elected during the division's annual meeting here Saturday.

Speaker Dr. Gerald P. Murphy, director of the Roswell Park Memorial Institute at Buffalo, N.Y., said 35,000 new cancer cases can be expected in Ohio during 1977 and 690,000 in the nation.

"Of every six people who get cancer, two will be cured and four will die," Murphy said. "One of those four could have been saved by earlier diagnosis and prompt treatment."

Indira Gandhi Arrested

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indira Gandhi, prime minister of India for 11 years until her election defeat last March, was arrested today on charges of misusing her position.

Eyewitnesses said a large squad of agents from India's central bureau of investigation took Mrs. Gandhi, 59, into custody at her New Delhi home.

Mrs. Gandhi was charged with acquiring 104 vehicles through misuse of her official position, India's national news agency reported.

A large crowd assembled outside Mrs. Gandhi's home as soon as supporters learned of the raid and while she was still inside. They chanted "Long live Indira Gandhi."

Shortly after the plain-clothesmen arrived, supporters of Mrs. Gandhi issued a statement in her name charging that the "arrest is a political one. It is to prevent me from going to the people. It is an attempt to discredit me in their eyes and the eyes of the world."

Sources close to her household said Mrs. Gandhi demanded that the bureau agents take her away in handcuffs but they explained this was not customary in such cases.

In her statement Mrs. Gandhi said even though she lost her individual liberty for a time her supporters must be prepared to fight "the very real threat to the country's self-reliance."

She was taken into custody under Section 5 of India's Prevention of Corruption Act. First reports said the specific charge was misusing her position as the prime minister to acquire 104 jeeps from two firms for electioneering.

The arrest came as Mrs. Gandhi appeared to be making what political sources said was the first tentative move toward a comeback after her election defeat in parliamentary voting last March.

In recent weeks, Mrs. Gandhi has paid a well-publicized visit to one of India's aged spiritual leaders, stepped up her travels to rural areas and made a few statements critical of the new Janata party government.

But while she was on the move, investigators were following the time-tested sleuthing technique of "follow the money" to unravel what they claimed was an intricate pattern of alleged embezzlement, fraud, extortion and abuse of authority by the inner circle of the former Gandhi government.

In August, authorities arrested two of Mrs. Gandhi's former cabinet ministers on charges of official corruption.

The political and financial dealings of her son, Sanjay, 30, are under microscopic investigation by a special government commission. He has already been implicated in at least a half dozen legal cases, but government sources said the cases involved to date are relatively minor.

Mrs. Gandhi, Sanjay, and her Congress party all allege that the investigations are part of a "political vendetta" by Prime Minister Morarji Desai's new government. They have claimed the charges are baseless.

Mrs. Gandhi capped her 11-year reign with 21 months of emergency rule under which civil liberties were suspended, thousands of political dissidents jailed and press censorship imposed.

It was that period of emergency rule that led to her downfall. Many members of the Janata party that defeated Mrs. Gandhi at the polls had been detained during the "national emergency" that began in June 1975.

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market moved ahead today, riding the momentum of last week's rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in early trading.

Advances took a 5-3 lead over declines among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said traders seemed to have been encouraged by the market's strength toward the end of last week, when it rebounded smartly from its lowest level in more than a year and a half.

Today's early prices included Sony, unchanged at 8 1/2; Citicorp, up 1/4 at 25; American Cyanamid, 1/2 higher at 27 1/2; and Great Western Financial, steady at 25.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average picked up 7.02 to 847.11 after a 5.37 gain in the preceding session.

Gainers outpaced losers by more than a 5-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume reached 21.17 million shares, against 21.16 million on Thursday.

The NYSE's composite index added .37 to 52.81.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index jumped 1.04 to 118.88.

Prices paid to farmers by Pickaway Grain were:
Ear Corn 1.58
Shelled Corn 1.63

give it up, but I just couldn't keep going. I can't see and the hearing is bad."

Mayer's professional life stretched over hundreds of thousands of miles and thousands of lives. He helped bring close to 7,000 babies into the world, most in their homes and many by coal oil lamp.

Although Nevin is not a very common first name, there are more than 50 Nevins in the hills of Holmes and Wayne counties — all delivered by Mayer and named in his honor.

Delivering seven babies in a single day wasn't unusual for the country doctor. His late wife, Mabel, would hurry to the home of the expectant mother and begin preparations. He would arrive to deliver the baby, and his wife would move on to prepare the next woman.

Mayer traveled from home to home by horse and buggy until 1920, when he bought his first car. In more difficult times, the doctor used a sled, milk wagon, boat and manure spreader to get to the homes of patients.

Once he delivered a baby in the back of an Amish buggy as they were crossing the county line. He was so busy he had to guess which county to put on the birth certificate.

The standard charge for delivering a baby was $25 for years.

Mayer says antibiotics are the biggest advance he has seen since his practice began.

"If we'd had antibiotics in 1918, we probably wouldn't have had the 25 million deaths around the world from influenza," he said.

The doctor remembers wearing out three horses driving 50 miles in one day to treat flu patients years ago.

The doctor is well-liked in the community where Mayer-Carson community hall is named after him and the late Jeff Carson, a friend who owned the pharmacy in town.

ACS Names President

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Thomas D. Stevenson, professor of pathology at Ohio State University's College of Medicine, is the new president of the Ohio division of the American Cancer Society.

Stevenson, 53, of Delaware, was elected during the division's annual meeting here Saturday.

Speaker Dr. Gerald P. Murphy, director of the Roswell Park Memorial Institute at Buffalo, N.Y., said 35,000 new cancer cases can be expected in Ohio during 1977 and 690,000 in the nation.

"Of every six people who get cancer, two will be cured and four will die," Murphy said. "One of those four could have been saved by earlier diagnosis and prompt treatment."

Hot Tips For Fire Prevention

DEAR READERS: This is Fire Prevention Week, and I received so much positive response to the column I published last year at this time, I decided to repeat it.

Last year approximately 12,000 Americans perished and 300,000 were seriously injured in nearly three million fires. And in Canada, there were nearly 900 deaths caused by approximately 79,000 fires.

A large percentage of those who died were children, elderly persons and invalids who had been left alone "for just a few minutes."

The chief cause of fires, in order of the toll taken, were:

1. Smoking
2. Electrical wiring
3. Heating and cooking equipment
4. Children playing with matches
5. Open flames and sparks

Elizabeth Taylor Donates Eyes

NEW YORK (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor has formally donated her eyes to the International Eye Foundation.

Miss Taylor's agent confirmed Thursday that Miss Taylor, famous for her violet eyes, made the decision during a mid-September Eye Ball in Washington for which she served as honorary chairperson.

She and husband John Warner were seated with the foundation's medical director, Dr. John Harry King, the spokesman said. Miss Taylor handed a piece of paper across the table to King giving written permission for her eyes to be deposited in the Eye Bank after her death.

"She just felt that it was very important," said her spokesman John Springer. "She does a lot of things like that that people don't know about."

Her husband responded in kind, donating his eyes also, Springer added.

ORDINANCE NO. 53-77

6. Flammable liquids
7. Suspected arson
8. Chimney and flues
9. Lightning
10. Spontaneous ignition.

The total loss due to fire last year was an estimated $3,001,000,000 in the U.S.A. and $254 million in Canada.

Now for some tips that could save your life:

-Be sure your cigarette is out. Matches, too. And never leave matches and lighters within the reach of children.

-Don't run cords under rugs or over radiators where they may get damaged. And replace a cord if it is frayed.

-Never leave small children alone in the house. Not even for a few minutes.

-Have your wiring and electrical installations done by a professional.

-Store oily rags and paints in a cool place in tightly sealed metal containers.

-Never use flammable liquids for drycleaning indoors.

-Never smoke in bed.

Have a fire drill in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire. Designate a specific meeting place outside, so you will all know who's outside of the house.

Remember: Fire extinguishers put out 97 per cent of all fires on which they were used, and most large fires start as small fires. So, invest in a compact, easy-to-use fire extinguisher and keep it handy in your kitchen, or be a sport and buy one for your cottage, car, boat and the back bedroom.

More recently, some excellent fire-detection systems have become available to homeowners. Ask your local fire marshal about them.

NOW, in case of fire:

If you suspect fire, feel the top of the door. If it's hot, don't open it. Escape through the window. But first alert the rest of the household.

If you can't open the window, break it with a chair. Cover the rough edges with a blanket, sit on the window ledge with one leg hanging outside and one inside, and wait for help.

The phone number of your fire department should be taped on every telephone. If it isn't, don't fumble around trying to find it. Get out and call from a neighbor's house.

If you live in an apartment building, use the stairway. Don't take a chance on the elevator. If it fails, you're trapped.

Once out, stay out. No treasure-not even the family pet-is worth risking a human life.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so. God Bless. Have a good day!

A Page Of Opinion

Expedient Friendship

It is interesting how necessity produces instant friendship among some nations. When the Marxist militarists now in charge in Ethiopia took over the government from the venerable Haile Selassie, they couldn't think of enough bad things to say about the United States, including some that even Fidel Castro never thought of.

But that was before the war against Somalia began to turn against Ethiopia. Now the war is going badly and the better-trained Somalia troops have Ethiopian forces close to a rout. So what do the rulers in Addis Ababa have to say about the U.S. today? They want to be friends, of course.

More specifically, they want Washington to approve sending them the $40 million worth of American arms that were in the pipeline when the Marxists themselves cancelled the 1953 U.S. military assistance program back in April. At that point, of course, the revolutionaries were feeling invincible and enjoying stepping on Uncle Sam's toes. Whatever response Washington sends to Addis Ababa ought to be predicated entirely upon what is best for American interests in Africa. The softer words flowing from the lips of the Ethiopian Marxists today should be taken for what they are — nothing more than the expediency of military tyrants who have bitten off more than they can chew.

Byrd's Senate

By JIM BISHOP

The United States Senate has a boss. He is a fragile popinjay, a man with a shrill voice who walks the broad corridors of the Capitol alone. He is Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the majority leader.

His predecessor, Mike Mansfield of Montana, was content to allow the Senate Caucus to set policy. The senator from West Virginia tells his August conferees that they should not discuss the Panama Canal treaty until "January or February" because that is when he intends to permit them to consider it on the Senate floor.

Byrd was born Robert Sale in North Carolina. His mother died before he reached his first birthday. His father, a carpenter, shipped the baby to the coal mines of West Virginia to live with his uncle, Titus Byrd.

Nothing came easily to Byrd and he has never forgiven life for its harshness. He grew up in Statesbury thinking Southern. The slatted houses looked alike, but the people were separated.

There was a foreign town; a native-born town; a colored town. The only thing they had in common was poverty. Robert Byrd grew up thinking it was natural to dislike blacks. He graduated first out of Mark Twain High School — not through brilliance — but because of stubborn study.

After school, he fed pigs from a slop bucket. He took a mail order course to become a butcher. At the age of 18, he married Era James, who seems to be the only person Byrd trusts completely.

When World War II started, Byrd took up welding and got a good job at a shipyard in Tampa, Florida. He joined the Ku Klux Klan. He also became a Sunday school teacher at a Baptist church. It there was a lighter side to the young man, it was then he dusted off his fiddle, rubbed resin on the bow, and sawed Hog Holler tunes.

After the war, he returned to West Virginia. He ran for the state House of Delegates and won. The mountaineers and the coal miners sensed that Bob Byrd was their kind.

Six years later, he was elected to Congress. He carefully straddled the coal miners and the mine owners. In the House well, he was silent. He grew an ulcer. At night he attended George Washington University, telling himself he could get nowhere without a law degree. He won it in 1964.

By that time, he was a United States senator. Byrd sees the Senate as an august, dignified group of honorable statesmen. And yet, in a not too subtle manner, Robert Byrd became a man who piled up points.

He achieved this by doing all sorts of menial favors for other senators. A good journalist, Laurence Leamer, got to know Byrd, and wrote in his "Playing for Keeps in Washington" that the senator insisted that every letter from his constituents be answered on the day of arrival, no matter how late the staff had to work.

He makes 1,500 random phone calls a year to West Virginia voters. On long weekends, he returns to West Virginia, carefully inking in each county on an office map. He studied senate procedures and rules until they were committed to memory. His hero was Richard Russell of Georgia.

Byrd is a small and pale man, but he filibustered against a civil rights bill in 1961, speaking for 21 hours. When Russell Long was Senate whip, the fiddler stood in the wings, waiting. But in 1967, when Long stepped down, Byrd was beaten by the rich kid, Ted Kennedy.

Four years later, he fought Kennedy for the same job, and beat him. "I'm in a position to do things for others," he said modestly. "I'm in a position to know what's going to happen tomorrow." Senator Byrd never met a Kennedy he admired. He is not a socializer; he disdains parties.

And yet he is unafraid to assume a harsh position. He is opposed to ghetto blacks and shiftless whites. "Wherever some people go," he says, "the rat holes will follow. Wherever some people go, the ghettos will follow."

This year he was elected majority leader. It makes him the third most powerful man in the nation, behind the president and the speaker of the House. In any case, it is now Byrd's Senate. It is he who sets up the schedules for the rare floor debates seen these days.

Some senators have 55 or more staff personnel. Byrd has 27. Some will not emerge into the corridors without a clustering staff. Robert Byrd walks alone. He has never spoken a bad word about any senator. His ulcer is sometimes in flames.

He has two married daughters, six grandchildren. The coal kid is now 60. He says there are four things his people believe in: God Almighty; Sears Roebuck; Carter's Liver Pills; and Robert Byrd. . .

Quake Center Guards Against 'Tsunami Waves'

A concrete vault holding sensitive seismographic equipment lies half buried in the earth, part of the U.S. Geophysical Observatory sequestered on a forested hill above the Pend Oreille River.

"We can record deer walking across the top of the vault," says geophysicist William "Bud" Odell.

This observatory forms the third leg of an earthquake monitoring triangle that stretches to Alaska and Hawaii. This out-of-the-way site, 50 miles northeast of Spokane, was selected as a place where earthquakes would be felt but not strongly enough to damage the equipment.

"As delicately as the instruments are calibrated, it would wreck them if we had a major shock right here," says Odell. "We're willing to risk the instruments to a degree because we want to be close enough to warn people and give them a chance to get out."

A tsunami wave has not struck since the Newport observatory was completed in 1966 by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. But the three-man observatory staff, employed by the U.S. Geological Survey, is ready 24 hours a day to set the alarm mechanism in action.

If an earthquake magnitude reaches 6.75 on the Richter scale and its epicenter is off the Pacific Coast, Newport sends a teletype message to a similar installation on the Hawaiian island of Oahu. The Hawaiian observatory collates information from Newport and Alaska to pinpoint the probable tsunami strike.

"The tsunami warning depends on the earthquake's size, where it's located and whether it's around a shoreline," said Leonard E. Kerry, chief of the Newport installation. "We send one warning to the U.S. Earthquake Information Center at Golden, Colo. and also to Honolulu."

The alert is passed on to Civil Defense, civic and military officials.

Earthquakes are measured on a logarithmic scale for which one full unit, as from magnitude 5 to 6, indicates release of 10 times as much power. The Geological Survey calculates magnitude to 8.9, reached only once, off the Japanese coast in March 1933.

Rhodes Asked To Apologize To Japanese

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Japanese American Citizens League has asked Gov. James A. Rhodes to apologize for using the term "Japs" to refer to Japanese businessmen.

Rhodes used the term this week when talking to newsmen about negotiations for a possible Honda Motor Co. plant at Marysville, Ohio. "You can't sell the Japs anything," Rhodes remarked, and when a reporter questioned him on use of the term, he said, "Japs are Japanese. They call us Yankees, whatever that is."

But the 30,000-member Japanese American Citizens League didn't take it lightly. After reading Rhodes' remarks, the league's Washington representative, Wayne K. Horiuchi, fired off a complaint to the governor.

"As you may be aware," Horiuchi told the governor, "the term 'Jap' has always been more than merely a convenient contraction for the word 'Japanese.' For almost as long as the Japanese have been in America, the contraction 'Jap' has been used as a term of racial derogation."

Calling use of the term inappropriate, Horiuchi asked Rhodes to "retract your use of the word 'Jap' and issue a public apology."

Rhodes was not available for comment.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Oct. 3, the 276th day of 1977. There are 89 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1952, the British exploded their first atomic bomb, in a test off the coast of Australia.

On this date:

In 1866, war between Austria and Italy was ended by the Treaty of Vienna.

In 1876, Johns Hopkins University opened in Baltimore.

In 1932, Iraq joined the League of Nations as a British mandate ended.

In 1935, Italian forces invaded Ethiopia.

In 1944, during World War II, U.S. troops cracked the Siegfried Line north of Aachen, Germany.

In 1964, Hurricane Hilda left more than 30 people dead as it roared across a nearly deserted coastal area west of New Orleans.

Heart disease, stroke, and disorders of the blood vessels are major targets for physicians everywhere. Certainly, they rank equal in importance to the massive problems of cancers.

Despite all of the educational campaigns, there still are areas of confusion about the causes of heart disease and its allied vascular problems. Until this confusion is removed, men and women everywhere will continue believing that such catastrophes will not happen to them.

A severe heart attack or a severe stroke may be fatal when one of the blood vessels that brings blood and oxygen to the heart or to the brain suddenly becomes completely blocked.

Tattooed Stripper Fired By Night Club

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) — Stripper Kandis Thompson has been fired for having tattoos on her left breast and right shoulder, but she says she'll fight to keep her job.

Ms. Thompson says she is asking the provincial Human Rights Commission to investigate her dismissal by the Kings Castle nightclub. The manager of the Kings Castle refused comment.

Ms. Thompson, 27, says she has been a professional stripper most of her working life and has performed in about 24 British Columbia clubs.

Her tattoos include a threeinch red, green, yellow and blue shooting star with a rainbow which snakes down the inside of her left breast and a butterfly on her right shoulder.

"I'm one of the best things that ever happened to them," the $200-a-week stripper said. "I gave the place some uplift. People came to see the lady with the tattoos, and the regular customers know me well."

Expedient Friendship

It is interesting how necessity produces instant friendship among some nations. When the Marxist militarists now in charge in Ethiopia took over the government from the venerable Haile Selassie, they couldn't think of enough bad things to say about the United States, including some that even Fidel Castro never thought of.

But that was before the war against Somalia began to turn against Ethiopia. Now the war is going badly and the better-trained Somalia troops have Ethiopian forces close to a rout. So what do the rulers in Addis Ababa have to say about the U.S. today? They want to be friends, of course.

More specifically, they want Washington to approve sending them the $40 million worth of American arms that were in the pipeline when the Marxists themselves cancelled the 1953 U.S. military assistance program back in April. At that point, of course, the revolutionaries were feeling invincible and enjoying stepping on Uncle Sam's toes.

Whatever response Washington sends to Addis Ababa ought to be predicated entirely upon what is best for American interests in Africa. The softer words flowing from the lips of the Ethiopian Marxists today should be taken for what they are — nothing more than the expediency of military tyrants who have bitten off more than they can chew.

Byrd's Senate

By JIM BISHOP

The United States Senate has a boss. He is a fragile popinjay, a man with a shrill voice who walks the broad corridors of the Capitol alone. He is Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, the majority leader.

His predecessor, Mike Mansfield of Montana, was content to allow the Senate Caucus to set policy. The senator from West Virginia tells his August conferees that they should not discuss the Panama Canal treaty until "January or February" because that is when he intends to permit them to consider it on the Senate floor.

Byrd was born Robert Sale in North Carolina. His mother died before he reached his first birthday. His father, a carpenter, shipped the baby to the coal mines of West Virginia to live with his uncle, Titus Byrd.

Nothing came easily to Byrd and he has never forgiven life for its harshness. He grew up in Stotesbury thinking Southern. The slatted houses looked alike, but the people were separated.

There was a foreign town; a native-born town; a colored town. The only thing they had in common was poverty. Robert Byrd grew up thinking it was natural to dislike blacks. He graduated first out of Mark Twain High School — not through brilliance — but because of stubborn study.

After school, he fed pigs from a slop bucket. He took a mail order course to become a butcher. At the age of 18, he married Era James, who seems to be the only person Byrd trusts completely.

When World War II started, Byrd took up welding and got a good job at a shipyard in Tampa, Florida. He joined the Ku Klux Klan. He also became a Sunday school teacher at a Baptist church. It there was a lighter side to the young man, it was then he dusted off his fiddle, rubbed resin on the bow, and sawed Hog Holler tunes.

After the war, he returned to West Virginia. He ran for the state House of Delegates and won. The mountaineers and the coal miners sensed that Bob Byrd was their kind.

Six years later, he was elected to Congress. He carefully straddled the coal miners and the mine owners. In the House well, he was silent. He grew an ulcer. At night he attended George Washington University, telling himself he could get nowhere without a law degree. He won it in 1964.

By that time, he was a United States senator. Byrd sees the Senate as an august, dignified group of honorable statesmen. And yet, in a not too subtle manner, Robert Byrd became a man who piled up points.

He achieved this by doing all sorts of menial favors for other senators. A good journalist, Laurence Leamer, got to know Byrd, and wrote in his "Playing for Keeps in Washington" that the senator insisted that every letter from his constituents be answered on the day of arrival, no matter how late the staff had to work.

He makes 1,500 random phone calls a year to West Virginia voters. On long weekends, he returns to West Virginia, carefully inking in each county on an office map. He studied senate procedures and rules until they were committed to memory. His hero was Richard Russell of Georgia.

Byrd is a small and pale man, but he filibustered against a civil rights bill in 1961, speaking for 21 hours. When Russell Long was Senate whip, the fiddler stood in the wings, waiting. But in 1967, when Long stepped down, Byrd was beaten by the rich kid, Ted Kennedy.

Four years later, he fought Kennedy for the same job, and beat him. "I'm in a position to do things for others," he said modestly. "I'm in a position to know what's going to happen tomorrow." Senator Byrd never met a Kennedy he admired. He is not a socializer; he disdains parties.

And yet he is unafraid to assume a harsh position. He is opposed to ghetto blacks and shiftless whites. "Wherever some people go," he says, "the rat holes will follow. Wherever some people go, the ghettos will follow."

This year he was elected majority leader. It makes him the third most powerful man in the nation, behind the president and the speaker of the House. In any case, it is now Byrd's Senate. It is he who sets up the schedules for the rare floor debates seen these days.

Some senators have 55 or more staff personnel. Byrd has 27. Some will not emerge into the corridors without a clustering staff. Robert Byrd walks alone. He has never spoken a bad word about any senator. His ulcer is sometimes in flames.

He has two married daughters, six grandchildren. The coal kid is now 60. He says there are four things his people believe in: God Almighty; Sears Roebuck; Carter's Liver Pills; and Robert Byrd.

Quake Center Guards Against 'Tsunami Waves'

NEWPORT, Wash. (AP) — Hundreds of miles from the nearest ocean beach, geophysicists here stand ready to sound the alarm against potentially disastrous "tsunami waves" which roll across the Pacific Ocean after major earthquakes.

A concrete vault holding sensitive seismographic equipment lies half buried in the earth, part of the U.S. Geophysical Observatory sequestered on a forested hill above the Pend Oreille River.

"We can record deer walking across the top of the vault," says geophysicist William "Bud" Odell.

This observatory forms the third leg of an earthquake monitoring triangle that stretches to Alaska and Hawaii. This out-of-the-way site, 50 miles northeast of Spokane, was selected as a place where earthquakes would be felt but not strongly enough to damage the equipment.

"As delicately as the instruments are calibrated, it would wreck them if we had a major shock right here," says Odell. "We're willing to risk the instruments to a degree because we want to be close enough to warn people and give them a chance to get out."

A tsunami wave has not struck since the Newport observatory was completed in 1966 by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. But the three-man observatory staff, employed by the U.S. Geological Survey, is ready 24 hours a day to set the alarm mechanism in action.

If an earthquake magnitude reaches 6.75 on the Richter scale and its epicenter is off the Pacific Coast, Newport sends a teletype message to a similar installation on the Hawaiian island of Oahu. The Hawaiian observatory collates information from Newport and Alaska to pinpoint the probable tsunami strike.

"The tsunami warning depends on the earthquake's size, where it's located and whether it's around a shoreline," said Leonard E. Kerry, chief of the Newport installation. "We send one warning to the U.S. Earthquake Information Center at Golden, Colo. and also to Honolulu."

The alert is passed on to Civil Defense, civic and military officials.

Earthquakes are measured on a logarithmic scale for which one full unit, as from magnitude 5 to 6, indicates release of 10 times as much power. The Geological Survey calculates magnitude to 8.9, reached only once, off the Japanese coast in March 1933.

Rhodes Asked To Apologize To Japanese

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Japanese American Citizens League has asked Gov. James A. Rhodes to apologize for using the term "Japs" to refer to Japanese businessmen.

Rhodes used the term this week when talking to newsmen about negotiations for a possible Honda Motor Co. plant at Marysville, Ohio. "You can't sell the Japs anything," Rhodes remarked, and when a reporter questioned him on use of the term, he said, "Japs are Japanese. They call us Yankees, whatever that is."

But the 30,000-member Japanese American Citizens League didn't take it lightly. After reading Rhodes' remarks, the league's Washington representative, Wayne K. Horiuchi, fired off a complaint to the governor.

"As you may be aware," Horiuchi told the governor, "the term 'Jap' has always been more than merely a convenient contraction for the word 'Japanese.' For almost as long as the Japanese have been in America, the contraction 'Jap' has been used as a term of racial derogation."

Calling use of the term inappropriate, Horiuchi asked Rhodes to "retract your use of the word 'Jap' and issue a public apology."

Rhodes was not available for comment.

Despite all of the educational campaigns, there still are areas of confusion about the causes of heart disease and its allied vascular problems. Until this confusion is removed, men and women everywhere will continue believing that such catastrophes will not happen to them.

A severe heart attack or a severe stroke may be fatal when one of the blood vessels that brings blood and oxygen to the heart or to the brain suddenly becomes completely blocked.

The sudden onset of such a calamity does not mean that the disease of the blood vessels began at that moment. The onset of heart attacks, strokes and vascular diseases frequently begins many, many years before the so-called attack occurs.

Arteriosclerosis is a condition that affects the arteries. They become narrower, and instead of being soft and elastic, they harden.

Atherosclerosis is a subdivision of arteriosclerosis. Actually, atherosclerosis is the real troublemaker. Fatty deposits and calcium begin to line the blood vessels and set up the process of narrowing. The result is that the normal flow of blood through these arteries is considerably slowed down. The greater the narrowing, the greater the reduction of the blood supply. The greater the reduction of the blood supply, the greater is the chance of having a heart attack or a stroke.

If the calcium deposits continue to become thicker, the blood supply with its life-giving oxygen does not properly arrive at its destination in the heart muscle.

Similarly, if the arteries going from the heart to the brain are markedly narrowed, a portion of the brain becomes starved for lack of blood and oxygen and a stroke then follows.

When the heart's pumping ability falls below normal, because of its own oxygen starvation, a whole set of problems are set in motion. The lungs begin to develop a backwash of fluid, swelling of the ankles and legs occurs, shortness of breath follows, and pain in the chest (angina) becomes prominent.

When the brain becomes oxygen starved, speaking and walking may become difficult, loss of memory may occur, and many of the bodily movements are interfered with.

These are the portraits of coronary heart disease and of strokes. Although they occur in different parts of the body, the underlying process of narrowing of the arteries is responsible for both.

Mrs. Estes Speaks At Monday Club

The Monday Club met September 26 in the Pickaway County Historical Society meeting room.

The program was presented by Mrs. Frank Estes. She entitled the program "The Empty Nest" and spoke about the period of a woman's life in which her children are grown and gone. She related some of her personal experiences while approaching this period in her life. She read several quotes which dealt with depression among mothers who were not prepared for this time in their life.

The so-called "Empty Nest" did not exist years ago, as generations lived together. Today's woman on the contrary, begins easing out of her maternal role as soon as her children turn 18, leave for college, for a career or for marriage.

Newer members of the Circleville Police Department, along with officers from Tarlton, Mt. Sterling, Stoutsville, and Williamsport recently completed the basic 46 hour course of instruction that is mandatory for all new Ohio law enforcement officers.

Twenty hours of classroom training took place for the officers at the Circleville Junior High School building. Captain Jerry Smallwood and Sergeant Larry Pontious of the Circleville Police Department supervised the classroom work, which along with later firearms training had to be approved by the Ohio Peace Officers' training council.

Areas covered in the classroom sessions included the laws of search and seizure, the justifiable use of deadly force, and the maintenance of department equipment.

The shooting sessions were held on Sept. 15 and 24 at the gun ranges of the Chillicothe Correctional Institute. There the officers were under the direction of Lt. Jon Chorpensing and Pickaway County villages also took part in the 26 hours of training on the Chillicothe Correctional Institute gun ranges. Held in conjunction with the weapons training were 20 hours of classroom sessions in Circleville that covered laws of search and seizure and the justifiable use of deadly force. The basic 46 hour course of instruction is required by the Ohio Peace Officer's Training Council.

Ptl. Howard Lodgson, both instructors on the Obetz Police Department.

According to national crime figures, based on 1975, 129 police officers were feloniously killed in the line of duty. Of the 129, 127 officers were killed by firearms. Only three per cent of the officers killed were able to fatally wound their assailants. The largest percentage of policemen died between the night hours from 9 p.m. to 3 a.m. Most gun battles with assailants lasted only two to three seconds at a distance on the average of less than 10 feet.

With these figures in mind, Capt. Smallwood stated that more and more police departments are using new methods of training their officers in the use of firearms.

The local officers spent 26 hours in firearms training and fired nearly 500 rounds of ammunition each. They fired on the shotgun range at the Institute, and also spent time on an off duty hours course. They were also taught how to "bounce" bullets underneath obstacles. Also included in the instruction were night firing situations with and without flashlights.

"Such situations put the officers in more realistic settings that they might find themselves in on the street someday. Shooting under stress like this is much better than simple target practice," stated Smallwood.

The officers were graded and ranked according to their overall performances on the different courses. Expert was the highest ranking obtainable.

The Circleville officers and their scores were as follows: Kevin Graul, expert; Alan Hawks, sharpshooter; Don Barton, sharpshooter; and Jon Kinney, marksman. The village policemen and their scores were Steve Davis (Tarlton), marksman; Rick Smith (Stoutsville), marksman; and Terry Dountz (Williamsport), marksman.

In December, both Capt. Smallwood and Sgt. Pontious will attend a firearms' instructors' school at the Ohio Peace Officers' Training Academy in London.

Miami University Enrollment Up

Miami University official enrollment counts for the fall semester are higher than last year on all three campuses, with new records of 14,769 at Oxford and 1861 at Hamilton and a swing back upward to 1767 at Middletown.

The enrollment of 67 at the Miami University European Center in Luxembourg is excluded in the Oxford total for bookkeeping purposes and therefore does not represent a fourth total.

Miami Registrar Kenneth H. Bogard, Jr., reported that Miami's three-campus total of 18,397 for the fall semester is higher than for any previous year except 1975, when the three-campus totals was 18,551. That total dipped to 18,232 last fall despite an Oxford-Campus record of 14,752 as each of the two regional campuses experienced a cutback to exactly the same total — 1740.

Armco To Keep Pipe Plant Open

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. reported it will be able to keep its Houston, Tex., pipe plant in operation through the end of the year thanks to an additional contract with the Federal Energy Administration.

The FEA is storing crude oil reserves in abandoned salt mines on the Gulf Coast and is buying pipe to transport the oil to the mines.

As a result, 200 steelworkers will remain working, an Armco spokesman said.

At the same time, the firm is laying off 600 workers at its Middletown, Ohio, mill, blaming competition from foreign producers and federal regulations.

Armco reported the FEA has contracted to purchase 67 miles of 36-inch pipe produced at the Houston plant.

Another contract for 42 miles of pipe enabled Armco to reopen its Houston plant May 2. But the plant was forced to close in mid-August when the first order was filled, the spokesman said.

Miami University Enrollment Up

Miami University official enrollment counts for the fall semester are higher than last year on all three campuses, with new records of 14,769 at Oxford and 1861 at Hamilton and a swing back upward to 1767 at Middletown.

The enrollment of 67 at the Miami University European Center in Luxembourg is excluded in the Oxford total for bookkeeping purposes and therefore does not represent a fourth total.

Miami Registrar Kenneth H. Bogard, Jr., reported that Miami's three-campus total of 18,397 for the fall semester is higher than for any previous year except 1975, when the three-campus totals was 18,551. That total dipped to 18,232 last fall despite an Oxford-Campus record of 14,752 as each of the two regional campuses experienced a cutback to exactly the same total — 1740.

Armco To Keep Pipe Plant Open

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. reported it will be able to keep its Houston, Tex., pipe plant in operation through the end of the year thanks to an additional contract with the Federal Energy Administration.

The FEA is storing crude oil reserves in abandoned salt mines on the Gulf Coast and is buying pipe to transport the oil to the mines.

As a result, 200 steelworkers will remain working, an Armco spokesman said.

At the same time, the firm is laying off 600 workers at its Middletown, Ohio, mill, blaming competition from foreign producers and federal regulations.

Armco reported the FEA has contracted to purchase 67 miles of 36-inch pipe produced at the Houston plant.

Another contract for 42 miles of pipe enabled Armco to reopen its Houston plant May 2. But the plant was forced to close in mid-August when the first order was filled, the spokesman said.

Cautious Optimism Is Mood In Steel Industry

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The mood of Mahoning Valley has turned to cautious optimism as residents get over the shock of mass layoffs by steel companies in the area and begin to prepare for the future.

With the announcement of 5,000 layoffs by Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., there are personal worries about finding new jobs, meeting mortgage payments, preparing for retirement and combating inflation.

But residents and officials are seeking ways to overcome the loss and the concern over widespread ripple effects from the cutbacks is easing.

Substantial unemployment benefits are expected, with laid off steel workers drawing up to 80 per cent of their base pay for up to two years between the industry's Supplemental Unemployment Benefits and special federal aid.

"That should provide a bridge over these hard times, until we can attract new industries and take up the slack," said Wesley Johnstone, head of the Youngstown Area Chamber of Commerce.

"There is a lot of national attention, companies everywhere know we have a large pool of labor and management talent here. The big problems will be to attract workouts before this pool scatters."

Frank J. Lesezanich, director of United Steelworkers of America District 26, is convinced that in a few months, some business left by Sheet & Tube will be picked up by other plants.

"I look for maybe a thousand new jobs opening in these other plants in time," he said.

Campbell and Struthers, cities on the southeast side of Youngstown, are the hardest hit by the cutbacks.

But Struthers Mayor Anthony S. Centofanti said fears were calmed last week when federal officials assured people that U.S. grants would keep local governments from going bankrupt during the crisis.

Cautious Optimism Is Mood In Steel Industry

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The mood of Mahoning Valley has turned to cautious optimism as residents get over the shock of mass layoffs by steel companies in the area and begin to prepare for the future.

With the announcement of 5,000 layoffs by Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., there are personal worries about finding new jobs, meeting mortgage payments, preparing for retirement and combating inflation.

MUSTANG COUNTRY — Visitors to the Westfall High School and Middle School will not easily forget where they are, thanks to Ellen Pennington. The senior painted a Mustang in several shades of brown on the wall of the Middle school's multi-purpose room and has begun painting a similar companion on the home side of the high school gymnasium. High School teacher John Butts painted big Scarlet on Grey block letters on each side of the above painting to say "Westfall Mustangs." The high school banner will say "Mustang Country". The two worked together on the design of the Mustang, which took Ellen three weeks to paint.

SALT CREEK VALLEY GRANGE
The Saltcreek Valley Grange will honor members with birthdays in June, July, August and September, at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening.

The birthday party will follow the business meeting which begins at 8 p.m. at the Wolfe Hall in Tarlton. This will be the first meeting with the newly installed officers in charge. The program will be conducted by the lecturer, Randy Wolfe.

For refreshments, those not having birthdays will bring a pound of something to eat, hence a "Pound Party."

For the September 20 regular meeting, Saltcreek Valley Grange was host for the installation of officers for all 7 Subordinate Granges in Pickaway County. Hoyt Timmons welcomed the guests and expressed appreciation for cooperation during his years as master and stated volunteer help would be appreciated for continued work for Wolfe Hall.

A thank you message was read from board of directors of County Fair in recognition of good support during the Fair. The Pickaway County Deputies of Ohio State Grange, Frank and Mary K. Lands, presented monetary awards to each grange having a booth exhibit at the fair. Mr. Lands suggested purchase of apple butter made during recent Heritage Days and thanked Saltcreek Valley for providing opportunity for the record installation.

Directed by Paul Dunkle, the service of installation was conducted by the Pickaway County Grange Youth Team. The following members participated: Randy Wolfe, installing officer; Debbie and Melissa Archer, Shirley and Neal Wolfe, Lysia DeLong, Joy and Dawn Bidwell, Ron Chesser, Mark Pfeifer, Harold Furniss, Bob Lands, Barbara McKenzie, and

King Hussein Chooses Wife

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Jordan's King Hussein has chosen a physician to become his fourth wife, a Beirut newspaper reports.

The newspaper, As Safir, quoted reliable sources on Sunday as saying the king will marry Lana Badreddin, daughter of former Lebanese parliament member Ali Badreddin, in a few days.

The royal palace in Amman declined to comment on the report.

The paper reported Miss Badreddin caught the 41-year-old king's fancy several months ago when she appeared in a medical debate on Jordan's national television. Later, she joined the administration of Al Hussein hospital in Amman. She has been a frequent palace visitor, As Safir said.

Hussein and two former wives have been divorced. His third wife, Alia Toqan, died in a helicopter crash near Amman last February.

The last recorded passenger pigeon, a female, died Sept. 1, 1914, in the Cincinnati Zoological Gardens and is now on exhibit in the Smithsonian Institution.—AP

Firemen Killed Hanging Banner

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Two members of the suburban Perkins Township Fire Department were killed and a third was injured Saturday when the ladder they had used to hang a banner across a street touched a high-voltage power line.

Killed were Thomas Jenkins, 28, and Frederick Melville, 24, both of Sandusky. Steven Miller, 30, of Castalia, was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital, where he was reported in satisfactory condition.

Authorities said the men were lowering a ladder they had used to stretch a banner advertising a community event across Campbell Street when it touched the power line.

SALT CREEK VALLEY GRANGE

The Saltcreek Valley Grange will honor members with birthdays in June, July, August and September, at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening.

The birthday party will follow the business meeting which begins at 8 p.m. at the Wolfe Hall in Tarlton. This will be the first meeting with the newly installed officers in charge. The program will be conducted by the lecturer, Randy Wolfe.

For refreshments, those not having birthdays will bring a pound of something to eat, hence a "Pound Party."

For the September 20 regular meeting, Saltcreek Valley Grange was host for the installation of officers for all 7 Subordinate Granges in Pickaway County. Hoyt Timmons welcomed the guests and expressed appreciation for cooperation during his years as master and stated volunteer help would be appreciated for continued work for Wolfe Hall.

A thank you message was read from board of directors of County Fair in recognition of good support during the Fair. The Pickaway County Deputies of Ohio State Grange, Frank and Mary K. Lands, presented monetary awards to each grange having a booth exhibit at the fair. Mr. Lands suggested purchase of apple butter made during recent Heritage Days and thanked Saltcreek Valley for providing opportunity for the record installation.

Directed by Paul Dunkle, the service of installation was conducted by the Pickaway County Grange Youth Team. The following members participated: Randy Wolfe, installing officer; Debbie and Melissa Archer, Shirley and Neal Wolfe, Lysia DeLong, Joy and Dawn Bidwell, Ron Chesser, Mark Pfeifer, Harold Furniss, Bob Lands, Barbara McKenzie, and

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Jordan's King Hussein has chosen a physician to become his fourth wife, a Beirut newspaper reports.

The newspaper, As Safir, quoted reliable sources on Sunday as saying the king will marry Lana Badreddin, daughter of former Lebanese parliament member Ali Badreddin, in a few days.

The royal palace in Amman declined to comment on the report.

The paper reported Miss Badreddin caught the 41-year-old king's fancy several months ago when she appeared in a medical debate on Jordan's national television. Later, she joined the administration of Al Hussein hospital in Amman. She has been a frequent palace visitor, As Safir said.

Hussein and two former wives have been divorced. His third wife, Alia Toqan, died in a helicopter crash near Amman last February.

Senate Filibuster Not Entertainment

WASHINGTON (AP) — As entertainment, art or education, the Senate filibuster is shot. It hit bottom this time.

No fiery speeches, no recordlong orations. Just a bunch of weary, sometimes angry men, hanging around all night for a boring succession of attendance calls and useless votes.

The stall ended with the promise of a compromise on the regulation of natural gas prices after a 37-hour session, which proved that the filibuster is not what it used to be.

Maybe it never was.

"I have seen a filibuster, but that is when somebody stands up and talks about something, not just dilatory actions," said Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., who has been around for 33 years. "Sure, we have slept here all night, many a night, but there was somebody talking. At least we could come in and get educated once in a while in the course of an evening."

That suggests it is easier to sleep at the Senate when somebody is giving a speech, which probably is true. And it takes all the charity nostalgia can give.

OU Hosts
College Day

Southeast Ohio high school students will have the opportunity to meet representatives of 60 colleges, universities and nursing schools at the second annual College Day hosted by Ohio University on Oct. 27.

The program will be held in the Convocation Center from 8:30 a.m. until noon. Each college representative will have a separate table where he or she will discuss their school and answer questions.

In addition, sessions of career planning and financial aid workshops will be presented for students at 9, 10, and 11 a.m.

Institutions sending representatives include most of Ohio's state universities, several private and technical colleges, and the U.S. Air Force and Naval academies.

Last year over 1,100 high school students from 22 southeastern Ohio high schools attended the program.

Persons wishing more information should contact their high school guidance counselors or write the Ohio University Admissions Office, Chubb Hall, Athens, 45701.

Soviet Director
Receives Award

MOSCOW (AP) — Yuri Lyubimov, one of the Soviet Union's most innovative directors, has received an award for his staging of a play that just four months ago drew official criticism.

Lyubimov, director of the Taganka Theater, received the Red Banner of Labor award on his 60th birthday Thursday and "for his services in the development of Soviet theatrical art," the official Tass news agency reported.

It cited his work on four plays, including "The Master and Margarita," a production that had been attacked by the Communist Party newspaper Pravda.

The play, based on Russian writer Mikhail Bulgakov's once-banned 1938 novel, satirized Soviet life, used religious symbolism and even brought a nude on stage. But it was the hit of the 1977 theater season.

When the play was not closed, Soviet theatergoers began predicting more experimental drama in Moscow.

invent to look back with pleasure at the record 24 hours and 18 minutes of oratory contributed by Sen. Strom Thurmond, filibustering against a civil rights bill 20 years ago.

Or, for that matter, the 14-hour speech logged by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., in the filibuster against the 1964 civil rights bill. That produced an all-night session of the Senate, which didn't happen again until last Wednesday.

Ironically, it was Byrd, now Senate majority leader, who ordered this latest run-on session in an effort to break the impasse over energy.

"We've had about enough of this foolishness," said Byrd, the reformed filibusterer. "It's making the Senate look bad. Really, it's an outrage."

There usually is an ample supply of outrage around the Senate. It increases sharply when a filibuster starts, whether the stalling tactic is the old-fashioned one of run-on speech-making or, as in the latest case, of parliamentary maneuver.

Whatever the method, the objective is the same: delay, as a minority seeks to block or force changes in legislation that probably would pass if put to a vote.

It once was the tool of Southern conservatives bent on blocking civil rights legislation. But it's there for any senator with a cause, a thick skin and a knowledge of the Senate rulebook.

Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., a leader of the natural gas filibuster — which was accomplished not with talk but with 508 amendments to tie up the Senate — told his colleagues that any one of them could find themselves in his spot another time.

"I do not know when it will be — they will have an issue that strikes them, that grabs them so hard, about which they will feel so strongly, that they might want to do the same thing."

But it isn't like the old days. The 37-hour energy session, broken by a breakfast recess, was a quickie compared to the 125 hours and 31 minutes the Senate met during a 1960 civil rights filibuster.

Lyndon B. Johnson was majority leader in those days, and he didn't worry about working around the clock. He did provide brief recesses, though. "Every man has the right to a Saturday night bath," he explained.

As for outrage, there's nobody around now who can come close to that of President Woodrow Wilson:

"A little group of wilful men, representing no opinion but their own, have rendered the great government of the United States helpless and contemptible."

That was 60 years ago, after a filibuster blocked an administration bill to permit the arming of merchant ships. Until then, Senate debate was really unlimited. The dispute led to the first cloture rule, under which a two-thirds vote could cut off a debate. It now takes three-fifths.

But that only limits the talking, not the parliamentary maneuvers.

Byrd wants to change that so opponents of a measure can't stall final action by any means for more than 50 hours after the Senate votes to limit debate.

These days, he said, "the real filibuster starts when cloture is invoked."

Bert Lance Says
He Has No Regrets

NEW YORK (AP) — Bert Lance, former director of the Office of Management and Budget, says he has no regrets about the past and is optimistic about the future.

Lance told reporters Thursday that he was still thinking about what he would do and had made no final decision. But he said he had "no regrets" about serving in the Carter administration and would not rule out the possibility of public service at some future time.

Lance resigned Sept. 21 as budget director. He came here to speak to the 26th annual meeting of the Investment Association of New York.

Asked about his personal finances, Lance said, "One thing I don't have to talk about is the state of my finances."

It cited his work on four plays, including "The Master and Margarita," a production that had been attacked by the Communist Party newspaper Pravda.

The play, based on Russian writer Mikhail Bulgakov's once-banned 1938 novel, satirized Soviet life, used religious symbolism and even brought a nude on stage. But it was the hit of the 1977 theater season.

When the play was not closed, Soviet theatergoers began predicting more experimental drama in Moscow.

invent to look back with pleasure at the record 24 hours and 18 minutes of oratory contributed by Sen. Strom Thurmond, filibustering against a civil rights bill 20 years ago.

Or, for that matter, the 14-hour speech logged by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., in the filibuster against the 1964 civil rights bill. That produced an all-night session of the Senate, which didn't happen again until last Wednesday.

Ironically, it was Byrd, now Senate majority leader, who ordered this latest run-on session in an effort to break the impasse over energy.

"We've had about enough of this foolishness," said Byrd, the reformed filibusterer. "It's making the Senate look bad. Really, it's an outrage."

There usually is an ample supply of outrage around the Senate. It increases sharply when a filibuster starts, whether the stalling tactic is the old-fashioned one of run-on speech-making or, as in the latest case, of parliamentary maneuver.

Whatever the method, the objective is the same: delay, as a minority seeks to block or force changes in legislation that probably would pass if put to a vote.

It once was the tool of Southern conservatives bent on blocking civil rights legislation. But it's there for any senator with a cause, a thick skin and a knowledge of the Senate rulebook.

Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., a leader of the natural gas filibuster — which was accomplished not with talk but with 508 amendments to tie up the Senate — told his colleagues that any one of them could find themselves in his spot another time.

"I do not know when it will be — they will have an issue that strikes them, that grabs them so hard, about which they will feel so strongly, that they might want to do the same thing."

But it isn't like the old days. The 37-hour energy session, broken by a breakfast recess, was a quickie compared to the 125 hours and 31 minutes the Senate met during a 1960 civil rights filibuster.

Lyndon B. Johnson was majority leader in those days, and he didn't worry about working around the clock. He did provide brief recesses, though. "Every man has the right to a Saturday night bath," he explained.

As for outrage, there's nobody around now who can come close to that of President Woodrow Wilson:

"A little group of wilful men, representing no opinion but their own, have rendered the great government of the United States helpless and contemptible."

That was 60 years ago, after a filibuster blocked an administration bill to permit the arming of merchant ships. Until then, Senate debate was really unlimited. The dispute led to the first cloture rule, under which a two-thirds vote could cut off a debate. It now takes three-fifths.

But that only limits the talking, not the parliamentary maneuvers.

Byrd wants to change that so opponents of a measure can't stall final action by any means for more than 50 hours after the Senate votes to limit debate.

These days, he said, "the real filibuster starts when cloture is invoked."

Bert Lance Says
He Has No Regrets

NEW YORK (AP) — Bert Lance, former director of the Office of Management and Budget, says he has no regrets about the past and is optimistic about the future.

Lance told reporters Thursday that he was still thinking about what he would do and had made no final decision. But he said he had "no regrets" about serving in the Carter administration and would not rule out the possibility of public service at some future time.

Lance resigned Sept. 21 as budget director. He came here to speak to the 26th annual meeting of the Investment Association of New York.

Mustang Defense Tops Huntsmen, 21-0

By TOM SPRING
Herald Sports Writer

Football defenders seldom get the credit they deserve, but the defense was certainly the key in Westfall's 21-0 win over Huntington Saturday at Huntington Field. The victory opened the Scioto Valley Conference season for the Mustangs.

Huntington's offense actually gained four more yards than Westfall's, but the Mustang offense was hampered time and again by penalties called during drives. Westfall was called 19 times on penalties for 175 yards. In contrast, the Huntsmen had only three penalties for 25 yards. Perhaps the most disliked people on the field, at least from the Mustang fans point of view, were the officials.

But despite the added 175 yards, Huntington could do little. The Westfall defense almost toyed with their opponents as the Mustangs stopped them time and again.

Because of it, the local lads spent most of the long afternoon with the ball, with the time spent partly on two scoring drives, partly on penalty time. Defense won the game by itself.

PLAY OF THE GAME — Westfall defensive halfback Kevin Thompson (24) hauls in an interception five yards deep in the Mustang endzone in third period action. The sophomore raced downfield 105 yards with the only score Westfall needed as the Mustangs defeated Huntington 21-0 Saturday at Huntington. Friday, Westfall will visit Zane Trace.

Defensive halfback Kevin Thompson stole the show with a play that will certainly go down in the Westfall record book.

The score was 14-0 with just four minutes remaining in the third period. The Huntsmen were on the Mustang

10-yard line due to a two-yard loss, facing fourth down and goal to go.

The play called for a pass and the Huntington quarterback faded back searching for a receiver. The Mustang line pushed in like a steamroller and the pressured signal-caller lofted the ball into the far corner of the endzone. Standing all alone was Kevin Thompson who hauled in the ball for an interception five yards deep and then, accompanied by an increasing crescendo from the local fans, ran 105 yards upfield, practically unscathed, for a touchdown. Mowery kicked the conversion.

The 5'6" 127-pound sophomore also intercepted another pass on Huntington's next possession and returned the ball 37 yards. Tom Reiser returned an interception eight yards and Keith Kern intercepted the pigskin on the last play of the game to save a touchdown. In addition, Eric Miller recovered a fumble. The Mustang defense gained as much yardage as the offense did rushing.

Leading the team in tackles was senior linebacker Denny Finch with nine. Keith Kern, Mike Exline and Greg Beard had eight apiece while Randy Adams, H.L. Gibson, Mike Moore and Darren Metzger each brought down the ball carrier seven times.

Several others had tackles, and coach John Glanton let everyone participate in the game.

The first quarter was scoreless as both teams played somewhat cautiously due to slippery conditions made by the morning rain. But as the sun dried out the field, the Mustangs put together a 63-yard scoring drive in the second stanza. Freshman quarterback Jerry Mowery threw a 16-yard pass to Darren Metzger good for a touchdown with 2:20 left in the half. Mowery kicked the conversion.

Tom Reiser took the handoff on Westfall's next possession and raced 53 yards into the endzone only to see it called back on a penalty in the closing seconds.

The Mustangs scored their second touchdown in the third frame on a drive set up by Reiser's interception return to the Huntington 32 yard line. Tony Simon cut the gap in half and Metzger ran the remaining four, making it 14-0 on Mowery's kick with 6:17 left in the period.

Thompson made it 20-0 just over two minutes later on his dazzling run.

Neither team could produce much yardage in the final frame until Huntington started its last drive, by way of an interception.

The Huntsmen moved to the Westfall six, but Kern intercepted an errant pass as time ran out.

Jeff Mowery completed two of four passes for 38 yards and junior George Kern connected on his only pass for 10 more.

Tony Simon powered the ball 53 yards in 11 carries. Jerry Mowery rushed for 26, Darren Metzger had 22, Tom Reiser, 18; Mike Exline, 16; Marty Dayhoff, eight; Greg Beard, seven, and Duane Roberts, three.

The Mustangs boosted their record to 3-1, and will visit Zane Trace in a Scioto Valley Conference game Friday.

Carlton To Face Tommy John

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two of the finest left-handed pitchers in baseball this season will be looking at a number of long ball threats Tuesday night when the Philadelphia Phillies and Los Angeles Dodgers open the National League's best-of-five playoff series.

On the mound for the Phillies will be Steve Carlton, the winningest pitcher in the majors with a 23-10 record. Tommy John, 20-7, will pitch for the Dodgers.

Both pitchers have had up-and-down careers. Carlton was traded to the Phillies by St. Louis after compiling a 20-9 record during the 1971 season.

In his first year in Philadelphia, Carlton had a 27-10 mark, a 1.98 earned run average and won the NL's Cy Young Award. But he slipped to 13-20 the following season although he has won 20 or better in each of the past two seasons.

John ruptured a ligament in his left elbow midway in the 1974 season and missed the rest of that year and all of 1975. Many thought he would never pitch again, but he earned NL Comeback of the Year honors in 1976 by splitting 20 decisions and had his finest year ever this season.

Carlton has a 2.64 ERA. John is close behind at 2.76. Both were 1-1 against each other's teams this year.

The Dodgers will confront Carlton with a lineup that includes four sluggers who hit 30 home runs or better each this year, the first time that's ever been accomplished.

Three of the four — Steve Garvey (33 homers), Ron Cey (30) and Dusty Baker (30) bat from the right side while Reggie Smith (32) is a switch-hitter. Carlton will face nine righthanded batters because Davey Lopes, Bill Russell, Steve Yeager, Glenn Burke and John all swing from the right side.

John will also face righthanded power. In Greg Luzinski and Mike Schmidt, John will be confronted by a total of 77 homers. Luzinski socked 39 while Schmidt blasted 38.

The series seems to be evenly-matched, at least on paper. The teams split a dozen games, each winning four at home. The Phillies had 101 victories and the Dodgers 98. Both have fine defenses, explosive offenses and good pitching.

Don Sutton, 14-8, will pitch for the Dodgers against Jim Lonborg, 11-4, in the second game of the series Wednesday night. The Dodgers' Burt Hooton, 12-7, will be matched against Larry Christenson, 19-6, when the series over to Philadelphia Friday. The fourth and fifth games, if needed, will next weekend.

Miller Barber Wins Napa

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Miller Barber did it with consistency, winning his 10th tournament title just as he has accumulated $1.2 million in his 19 years on the pro golf tour.

"It seems like every time I've been in contention lately, someone comes along and burns the grass off the place," the 46-year-old Barber said Sunday after winning the $200,000 Napa PGA tournament.

Howard Twitty, a 28-year-old pro from Arizona, came up with a searing 62, second best round on the tour this year, but it wasn't enough to beat Barber, who finished with a seven-under-par 65 on the 6,870-yard Silverado Country Club North course.

Barber posted four subpar rounds, including a 66 on the second day, for his 72-hole total of 272, which beat George Archer by two strokes and Twitty by three. Archer, who led the field by four strokes after a 63 Saturday, struggled to a 73 Sunday.

Twitty began the tournament with a 73 and went into the final round 12 strokes from the top before breaking the course record set by Johnny Miller in last year's tournament and tied by Archer Saturday.

"I think I'm still in a state of shock. I wondered how in the world George could shoot a 63 and then shoot a 62," said Twitty, who chipped in two shots for birdies and finished his round by sinking putts of 30 feet and 40 feet on the final two holes.

The only score to better Twitty's 10-under-par round this year was the all-time tour record 59 posted by Al Geiberger in the Memphis Open.

Another top finisher in the Napa event was Tom Watson, the Masters and British Open champion who tied for eighth and picked up $5,225, raising his season-leading money total to $310,000.

Barber has won only 10 tour events in his career, including the Napa tournament in 1969, but Sunday's $40,000 victory pushed him over $100,000 in winnings for the fifth year and raised his all-time total to $1,227,951, ninth highest in the sport.

Reds, Pirates Win Everything But Title

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds did everything this year but win their division titles — literally.

While the Philadelphia Phillies and Los Angeles Dodgers claimed the Eastern and Western divisions of the National League, the Pirates and Reds ran off with all the significant individual races.

Among the winners was John Candelaria, the Pittsburgh lefthander who became the first pitcher since 1965 to lead the league in earned run average and winning percentage while winning 20 games. That puts Candelaria in pretty good company, since Sandy Koufax was the last to do it.

"I think I should have a good chance to win the Cy Young Award," said Candelaria. "No one had a better year."

Candelaria's credentials speak as loud as his words — a 20-5 record for an 800 winning percentage and an ERA of 2.34.

Along with Candelaria, the Pirates had unofficial league leaders in two other important categories as their regular season ended Sunday with a 5-1, 32 doubleheader sweep of the Chicago Cubs.

Dave Parker finished the season with the best batting average in the National League, .338, and Frank Taveras led in steals with a club-record 70. Parker also led the league in hits with 215 and doubles with 44.

The Reds, meanwhile, won a fistful of significant personal honors, two of which were claimed by one man — George Foster, who finished with an extraordinary total of 52 home runs and 149 RBI.

"It would have been nice if my big figures helped us win the pennant, but they didn't," said Foster. "I'm confident, though, that next year we'll be where we should be — on top."

Cincinnati's Joe Morgan, meanwhile, established a fielding record for second basemen, finishing the year with only five errors in 153 games. The former mark of six was held by Tito Fuentes of the San Francisco Giants in 1973.

Despite committing four errors in Sunday's 6-3 loss to the Atlanta Braves, the Reds also set a team fielding record of 90 errors in a 162-game season, five less than the Baltimore Orioles did in 1973.

In this "Year of the Hitter," another conspicuous fielding record was set when Ken Reitz played perfect defensive ball in the St. Louis Cardinals' 6-4 loss to the New York Mets Sunday, thus finishing the season with merely nine errors at third base. The old National League record was set by Don Money in 1972 at Philadelphia.

In other National League games Sunday, the Houston Astros beat Los Angeles 6-3, Philadelphia stopped the Montreal Expos 5-3 and the San Diego Padres trounced the San Francisco Giants 3-1.

Pirates 5-3, Cubs 1-2

Mike Easler and Al Oliver rapped solo home runs to lead Pittsburgh over Chicago in their first game. The Pirates won the second game as Easler, a 26-year-old rookie, doubled in the ninth inning and scored on a single

by Ed Ott.

Braves 6, Reds 3

Barry Bonnell drove in two runs and scored two to pace Atlanta over Cincinnati. Atlanta rookie pitcher Mickey Mahler, 1-2, notched his first career victory in his fifth start, allowing three hits in six innings of work. Fred Norman, 14-13, was charged with the loss.

Mets 6, Cardinals 4

Joel Youngblood drove in two runs with three hits and Steve Henderson scored three times, leading New York over St. Louis.

Astros 6, Dodgers 3

James Rodney Richard struck out 14 in hurling Houston to a four-hit victory over Los Angeles as the Dodgers embellished their attendance record. The NL Western Division champions closed the season with a major league attendance record of 2,955,087, breaking their former mark of 199,403 set in 1962.

Phillies 5, Expos 3

Larry Christenson allowed three hits in seven innings as Philadelphia defeated Montreal.

Padres 3, Giants 1

Left-hander Bob Shirley fired a five-hitter and Dave Winfield's triple highlighted a three-run second inning as San Diego beat San Francisco.

Local Ladies Win At Running Fox Invitational

Ruth Porter, a Pickaway Country Club member, captured low net with an 87 and had the longest drive in the Running Fox Ladies Invitational held Sunday at Running Fox Golf Course, Chillicothe.

Harry Hoffer, pro and tournament director at the course, reported that five lady golfers from the PCC entered the tournament and four of them won prizes.

Katie Schneider won the third flight, Gertrude Rickard carded second low net in the fourth flight and Joan Ness shot second low net in the second flight. The other local golfer in the tournament was Connie Sherman.

Hoffer reported there were 39 entries.

Viking Frosh Down Wilmington

The Teays Valley Freshman football team turned in their first victory of the season by upending Wilmington, 14-0, last Thursday at Teays Valley.

Jim Pangborn scored all 14 points for TV. The Viking defense limited Wilmington to just 19 offensive plays and recovered three Hurricane Fumbles. Mike Roberts was credited with six solo tackles and six assists. Ron Hay was credited with seven tackles.

The score was 14-0 with just four minutes remaining in the third period. The Huntsmen were on the Mustang

10-yard line due to a two-yard loss, facing fourth down and goal to go.

The play called for a pass and the Huntington quarterback faded back searching for a receiver. The Mustang line pushed in like a steamroller and the pressured signal-caller lofted the ball into the far corner of the endzone. Standing all alone was Kevin Thompson who hauled in the ball for an interception five yards deep and then, accompanied by an increasing crescendo from the local fans, ran 105 yards upfield, practically unscathed, for a touchdown. Mowery kicked the conversion.

The 5'6" 127-pound sophomore also intercepted another pass on Huntington's next possession and returned the ball 37 yards. Tom Reiser returned an interception eight yards and Keith Kern intercepted the pigskin on the last play of the game to save a touchdown. In addition, Eric Miller recovered a fumble. The Mustang defense gained as much yardage as the offense did rushing.

Leading the team in tackles was senior linebacker Denny Finch with nine. Keith Kern, Mike Exline and Greg Beard had eight apiece while Randy Adams, H.L. Gibson, Mike Moore and Darren Metzger each brought down the ball carrier seven times.

Several others had tackles, and coach John Glanton let everyone participate in the game.

The first quarter was scoreless as both teams played somewhat cautiously due to slippery conditions made by the morning rain. But as the sun dried out the field, the Mustangs put together a 63-yard scoring drive in the second stanza. Freshman quarterback Jerry Mowery threw a 16-yard pass to Darren Metzger good for a touchdown with 2:20 left in the half. Mowery kicked the conversion.

Tom Reiser took the handoff on Westfall's next possession and raced 53 yards into the endzone only to see it called back on a penalty in the closing seconds.

The Mustangs scored their second touchdown in the third frame on a drive set up by Reiser's interception return to the Huntington 32 yard line. Tony Simon cut the gap in half and Metzger ran the remaining four, making it 14-0 on Mowery's kick with 6:17 left in the period.

Thompson made it 20-0 just over two minutes later on his dazzling run.

Neither team could produce much yardage in the final frame until Huntington started its last drive, by way of an interception.

The Huntsmen moved to the Westfall six, but Kern intercepted an errant pass as time ran out.

Jeff Mowery completed two of four passes for 38 yards and junior George Kern connected on his only pass for 10 more.

Tony Simon powered the ball 53 yards in 11 carries. Jerry Mowery rushed for 26, Darren Metzger had 22, Tom Reiser, 18; Mike Exline, 16; Marty Dayhoff, eight; Greg Beard, seven, and Duane Roberts, three.

The Mustangs boosted their record to 3-1, and will visit Zane Trace in a Scioto Valley Conference game Friday.

Carlton To Face Tommy John

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two of the finest left-handed pitchers in baseball this season will be looking at a number of long ball threats Tuesday night when the Philadelphia Phillies and Los Angeles Dodgers open the National League's best-of-five playoff series.

On the mound for the Phillies will be Steve Carlton, the winningest pitcher in the majors with a 23-10 record. Tommy John, 20-7, will pitch for the Dodgers.

Both pitchers have had up-and-down careers. Carlton was traded to the Phillies by St. Louis after compiling a 20-9 record during the 1971 season.

In his first year in Philadelphia, Carlton had a 27-10 mark, a 1.98 earned run average and won the NL's Cy Young Award. But he slipped to 13-20 the following season although he has won 20 or better in each of the past two seasons.

John ruptured a ligament in his left elbow midway in the 1974 season and missed the rest of that year and all of 1975. Many thought he would never pitch again, but he earned NL Comeback of the Year honors in 1976 by splitting 20 decisions and had his finest year ever this season.

Carlton has a 2.64 ERA. John is close behind at 2.76. Both were 1-1 against each other's teams this year.

The Dodgers will confront Carlton with a lineup that includes four sluggers who hit 30 home runs or better each this year, the first time that's ever been accomplished.

Three of the four — Steve Garvey (33 homers), Ron Cey (30) and Dusty Baker (30) bat from the right side while Reggie Smith (32) is a switch-hitter. Carlton will face nine righthanded batters because Davey Lopes, Bill Russell, Steve Yeager, Glenn Burke and John all swing from the right side.

John will also face righthanded power. In Greg Luzinski and Mike Schmidt, John will be confronted by a total of 77 homers. Luzinski socked 39 while Schmidt blasted 38.

The series seems to be evenly-matched, at least on paper. The teams split a dozen games, each winning four at home. The Phillies had 101 victories and the Dodgers 98. Both have fine defenses, explosive offenses and good pitching.

Don Sutton, 14-8, will pitch for the Dodgers against Jim Lonborg, 11-4, in the second game of the series Wednesday night. The Dodgers' Burt Hootson, 12-7, will be matched against Larry Christenson, 19-6, when the series over to Philadelphia Friday. The fourth and fifth games, if needed, will next weekend.

Miller Barber Wins Napa

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Miller Barber did it with consistency, winning his 10th tournament title just as he has accumulated $1.2 million in his 19 years on the pro golf tour.

"It seems like every time I've been in contention lately, someone comes along and burns the grass off the place," the 46-year-old Barber said Sunday after winning the $200,000 Napa PGA tournament.

Howard Twitty, a 28-year-old pro from Arizona, came up with a searing 62, second best round on the tour this year, but it wasn't enough to beat Barber, who finished with a seven-under-par 65 on the 6,870-yard Silverado Country Club North course.

Barber posted four subpar rounds, including a 66 on the second day, for his 72-hole total of 272, which beat George Archer by two strokes and Twitty by three. Archer, who led the field by four strokes after a 63 Saturday, struggled to a 73 Sunday.

Twitty began the tournament with a 73 and went into the final round 12 strokes from the top before breaking the course record set by Johnny Miller in last year's tournament and tied by Archer Saturday.

"I think I'm still in a state of shock. I wondered how in the world George could shoot a 63 and then shoot a 62," said Twitty, who chipped in two shots for birdies and finished his round by sinking putts of 30 feet and 40 feet on the final two holes.

The only score to better Twitty's 10-under-par round this year was the all-time tour record 59 posted by Al Geiberger in the Memphis Open.

Another top finisher in the Napa event was Tom Watson, the Masters and British Open champion who tied for eighth and picked up $2,225, raising his season-leading money total to $310,000.

Barber has won only 10 tour events in his career, including the Napa tournament in 1969, but Sunday's $40,000 victory pushed him over $100,000 in winnings for the fifth year and raised his all-time total to $1,227,951, ninth highest in the sport.

Reds, Pirates Win Everything But Title

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds did everything this year but win their division titles — literally.

While the Philadelphia Phillies and Los Angeles Dodgers claimed the Eastern and Western divisions of the National League, the Pirates and Reds ran off with all the significant individual races.

Among the winners was John Candelaria, the Pittsburgh lefthander who became the first pitcher since 1965 to lead the league in earned run average and winning percentage while winning 20 games. That puts Candelaria in pretty good company, since Sandy Koufax was the last to do it.

"I think I should have a good chance to win the Cy Young Award," said Candelaria. "No one had a better year."

Candelaria's credentials speak as loud as his words — a 20-5 record for an .800 winning percentage and an ERA of 2.34.

Along with Candelaria, the Pirates had unofficial league leaders in two other important categories as their regular season ended Sunday with a 5-1, 32 doubleheader sweep of the Chicago Cubs.

Dave Parker finished the season with the best batting average in the National League, .338, and Frank Taveras led in steals with a club-record 70. Parker also led the league in hits with 215 and doubles with 44.

The Reds, meanwhile, won a fistful of significant personal honors, two of which were claimed by one man — George Foster, who finished with an extraordinary total of 52 home runs and 149 RBI.

"It would have been nice if my big figures helped us win the pennant, but they didn't," said Foster. "I'm confident, though, that next year we'll be where we should be — on top."

Cincinnati's Joe Morgan, meanwhile, established a fielding record for second basemen, finishing the year with only five errors in 153 games. The former mark of six was held by Tito Fuentes of the San Francisco Giants in 1973.

Despite committing four errors in Sunday's 6-3 loss to the Atlanta Braves, the Reds also set a team fielding record of 90 errors in a 162-game season, five less than the Baltimore Orioles did in 1973.

In this "Year of the Hitter," another conspicuous fielding record was set when Ken Reitz played perfect defensive ball in the St. Louis Cardinals' 6-4 loss to the New York Mets Sunday, thus finishing the season with merely nine errors at third base. The old National League record was set by Don Money in 1972 at Philadelphia.

In other National League games Sunday, the Houston Astros beat Los Angeles 6-3, Philadelphia stopped the Montreal Expos 5-3 and the San Diego Padres trimmed the San Francisco Giants 3-1.

Pirates 5-3, Cubs 1-2
Mike Easler and Al Oliver rapped solo home runs to lead Pittsburgh over Chicago in their first game. The Pirates won the second game as Easler, a 26-year-old rookie, doubled in the ninth inning and scored on a single

by Ed Ott.

Braves 6, Reds 3

Barry Bonnell drove in two runs and scored two to pace Atlanta over Cincinnati. Atlanta rookie pitcher Mickey Mahler, 1-2, notched his first career victory in his fifth start, allowing three hits in six innings of work. Fred Norman, 14-13, was charged with the loss.

Mets 6, Cardinals 4

Joel Youngblood drove in two runs with three hits and Steve Henderson scored three times, leading New York over St. Louis.

Astros 6, Dodgers 3

James Rodney Richard struck out 14 in hurling Houston to a four-hit victory over Los Angeles as the Dodgers embellished their attendance record. The NL Western Division champions closed the season with a major league attendance record of 2,955,087, breaking their former mark of 199,403 set in 1962.

Phillies 5, Expos 3

Larry Christenson allowed three hits in seven innings as Philadelphia defeated Montreal.

Padres 3, Giants 1

Left-hander Bob Shirley fired a five-hitter and Dave Winfield's triple highlighted a three-run second inning as San Diego beat San Francisco.

Local Ladies Win At Running Fox Invitational

Ruth Porter, a Pickaway Country Club member, captured low net with an 87 and had the longest drive in the Running Fox Ladies Invitational held Sunday at Running Fox Golf Course, Chillicothe.

Harry Hoffer, pro and tournament director at the course, reported that five lady golfers from the PCC entered the tournament and four of them won prizes.

Katie Schneider won the third flight, Gertrude Rickard carded second low net in the fourth flight and Joan Ness shot second low net in the second flight. The other local golfer in the tournament was Connie Sherman.

Hoffer reported there were 39 entries.

Viking Frosh Down Wilmington

The Teays Valley Freshman football team turned in their first victory of the season by upending Wilmington, 14-0, last Thursday at Teays Valley.

Jim Pangborn scored all 14 points for TV. The Viking defense limited Wilmington to just 19 offensive plays and recovered three Hurricane Fumbles. Mike Roberts was credited with six solo tackles and six assists. Ron Hay was credited with seven tackles.

The Viking frosh will host Circleville 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Carew Almost Made It

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

While everyone was waiting to see if Rod Carew would hit .400 this season, the Minnesota Twins first baseman had another goal in mind.

"What I want most is to win the Gold Glove award," Carew said. "A Gold Glove would be a perfect cap for the season. I hope the voters don't hold it against me that I've only played first base the last two seasons. I thought I played it as well as any first baseman in the league this year. I think I deserve it."

The Twins' star finished the season in a flurry Sunday, getting three hits in four at bats to wind up with a .388 batting average as Minnesota defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 6-2.

Carew was hitting .400 at midseason. His .388 average is the best in the majors since Ted Williams hit .406 for the Boston Red Sox in 1941. Williams also hit .388 in 1957.

Carew finished with 239 hits, most by a major leaguer since Heinie Manush had 241 for Detroit in 1928, and led the league in runs scored with 128 and triples with 16.

The first baseman knocked in a run with an eighth-inning single, giving him 100 RBI for a season for the first time in his career.

Carew's teammate, Larry Hisle, won the RBI title with 119. Another Minnesota batter, Lyman Bostock, was second in batting with .336.

Boston's Jim Rice won the home run championship with 39; Hal McRae of Kansas had the most doubles, 55; Kansas City's Fred Patek led in stolen bases, 52; California's Nolan Ryan paced in the league in strikeouts, 345, while Dennis Leonard of Kansas City, Baltimore's Jim Palmer and Dave Goltz of Minnesota all won 20 games, tops in the AL.

In other AL games Sunday, Cleveland and Toronto split a doubleheader, Toronto winning the opener 2-1 and Cleveland taking the nightcap 5-4; New York edged Detroit 8-7; Seattle nipped Chicago 3-2; Kansas City blanked California 2-0, and Texas downed Oakland 8-7. Baltimore at Boston was rained out.

Blue Jays 2-4, Indians 1-5

Reliever Rick Waits held Toronto to one hit through four innings, striking out one and walking one as Cleveland nipped the Blue Jays in the second game of their doubleheader. In the opener, Gary Woods scored from third on a wild pitch in the 11th inning to give Toronto the victory.

Yankees 8, Tigers 7

Reserve catcher Elrod Hendricks smashed a game-tying, two-run double in the eighth inning and Dell Alston then squeezed home the winning run as New York wound up its season by edging Detroit. Mickey Klutts homered for the Yankees while Ben Oglivie drove in three runs for the Tigers with a home run and a sacrifice fly.

Royals 2, Angels 0

Kansas City right-hander Dennis Leonard captured his 20th victory of the year, blanking California. Leonard scattered six hits, struck out nine and walked one. George Brett homered, his 22nd of the season, for the Royals.

Seattle 3, White Sox 2

Dan Meyer drove in a pair of runs with a single and double to lead Seattle over Chicago.

Rangers 8, A's 7

A two-run double by Kurt Bevacqua sparked Texas' five-run third inning and Bill Fahey knocked in two more runs as the Rangers defeated Oakland.

Michigan Pounds Texas A&M

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Like comedian Rodney Dangerfield, Michigan and Louisiana State hadn't been getting no respect lately. Don't know about you, Rod, but the two college football teams changed their luck over the weekend.

Despite all of Coach Bo Schembechler's claims during the week that no team could play Texas A&M on even terms and win because of super placekicker Tony Franklin, Michigan's third-ranked Wolverines went out and pounded the fifth-ranked Aggies 41-3.

And Saturday night, LSU's Tigers showed that they might be ready to return to the Southeastern Conference's higher echelons with a 36-14 trouncing of ninth-ranked Florida.

"I told the players, 'What you did tonight is you bought some respect.' I can't thank the players and coaching staff enough," said grinning Coach Charlie McClendon, who has been under fire from LSU's overzealous supporters for a number of years.

They were after McClendon's scalp down in the bayous but things may have quieted down some thanks to tailback Charles Alexander — 169 yards and two touchdowns — and quarterback Steve Ensminger, who added two more TDs.

Meanwhile, Michigan bounced back impressively from unimpressive squeakers over Duke (21-9) and Navy (14-7) that dropped the Wolverines, helped by some urging from Schembechler, from No. 1 to No. 3 in The Associated Press ratings.

Russell Davis shrugged off two earlier fumbles by plowing for 110 yards and two touchdowns, Rick Leach threw a 35-yard TD pass to Curt Stephenson and Harlan Huckleby ran eight yards for a score as the Wolverines thrilled a Michigan Stadium 50th anniversary crowd of 104,802 and made Franklin's chip-shot 24-yard field goal, which gave the Aggies a 3-0 first-period lead, very forgettable.

Besides Texas A&M and Florida, two other members of the Top Twenty went down to defeat — No. 4 Penn State fell to Kentucky 24-20 and No. 20 Arizona State was whitewashed by Missouri 15-0.

Meanwhile, top-rated Oklahoma beat Kansas 24-9, No. 6 Ohio State smacked Southern Methodist 35-7, No. 7 Colorado blanked Army 31-0, No. 8 Texas destroyed Rice 72-15 and No. 10 Alabama downed Georgia 18-10.

In the Second Ten, it was No. 11 Nebraska over Indiana 31-13, No. 12 Arkansas whipping Texas Christian 42-

6, No. 13 Texas Tech edging North Carolina 10-7, No. 14 Notre Dame over Michigan State 16-6, No. 16 Pitt blasting Boston College 45-7, No. 17 California mauling San Jose State 52-3, No. 18 Mississippi State shading Kansas State 24-21 and No. 19 Houston beating Baylor 28-24.

Friday night, second-ranked Southern California hammered Washington State 41-7 as tailbacks

Charles White and Dwight Ford combined for 246 yards and No. 15 Brigham Young walloped New Mexico 54-19 as Gifford Nielsen, who threw six touchdown passes last week, tacked on five more.

Kentucky rallied twice to beat Penn State for the second year in row. The Wildcats trailed 10-0 when Dallas Owens raced 23 yards with a first-period interception.

Like comedian Rodney Dangerfield, Michigan and Louisiana State hadn't been getting no respect lately. Don't know about you, Rod, but the two college football teams changed their luck over the weekend.

Despite all of Coach Bo Schembechler's claims during the week that no team could play Texas A&M on even terms and win because of super placekicker Tony Franklin, Michigan's third-ranked Wolverines went out and pounded the fifth-ranked Aggies 41-3.

And Saturday night, LSU's Tigers showed that they might be ready to return to the Southeastern Conference's higher echelons with a 36-14 trouncing of ninth-ranked Florida.

"I told the players, 'What you did tonight is you bought some respect.' I can't thank the players and coaching staff enough," said grinning Coach Charlie McClendon, who has been under fire from LSU's overzealous supporters for a number of years.

They were after McClendon's scalp down in the bayous but things may have quieted down some thanks to tailback Charles Alexander — 169 yards and two touchdowns — and quarterback Steve Ensminger, who added two more TDs.

Meanwhile, Michigan bounced back impressively from unimpressive squeakers over Duke (21-9) and Navy (14-7) that dropped the Wolverines, helped by some urging from Schembechler, from No. 1 to No. 3 in The Associated Press ratings.

Russell Davis shrugged off two earlier fumbles by plowing for 110 yards and two touchdowns, Rick Leach threw a 35-yard TD pass to Curt Stephenson and Harlan Huckleby ran eight yards for a score as the Wolverines thrilled a Michigan Stadium 50th anniversary crowd of 104,802 and made Franklin's chip-shot 24-yard field goal, which gave the Aggies a 3-0 first-period lead, very forgettable.

Besides Texas A&M and Florida, two other members of the Top Twenty went down to defeat — No. 4 Penn State fell to Kentucky 24-20 and No. 20 Arizona State was whitewashed by Missouri 15-0.

Meanwhile, top-rated Oklahoma beat Kansas 24-9, No. 6 Ohio State smacked Southern Methodist 35-7, No. 7 Colorado blanked Army 31-0, No. 8 Texas destroyed Rice 72-15 and No. 10 Alabama downed Georgia 18-10.

In the Second Ten, it was No. 11 Nebraska over Indiana 31-13, No. 12 Arkansas whipping Texas Christian 42-

6, No. 13 Texas Tech edging North Carolina 10-7, No. 14 Notre Dame over Michigan State 16-6, No. 16 Pitt blasting Boston College 45-7, No. 17 California mauling San Jose State 52-3, No. 18 Mississippi State shading Kansas State 24-21 and No. 19 Houston beating Baylor 28-24.

Friday night, second-ranked Southern California hammered Washington State 41-7 as tailbacks

Charles White and Dwight Ford combined for 246 yards and No. 15 Brigham Young walloped New Mexico 54-19 as Gifford Nielsen, who threw six touchdown passes last week, tacked on five more.

Kentucky rallied twice to beat Penn State for the second year in row. The Wildcats trailed 10-0 when Dallas Owens raced 23 yards with a first-period interception.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Another new sitcom eased in over the weekend — CBS' "We've Got Each Other." It was El Doggo, even though it was made by the Mary Tyler Moore works, which usually has classy wares.

A Saturday night effort, the show has Oliver Clark and Beverly Archer as a married couple. She works for a fashion photographer (Tom Poston). He toils at home as a copywriter for a mail-order house.

The scheduled premiere show started by rousing her at dawn with a new clock. Clark was testing for his boss, a purveyor of crazy gadgets. The clock didn't ring or buzz. It screamed. Okay.

Then he made breakfast, she got ready for work. A crisis developed. You knew that when her employer's top model, a dense, nasty blonde played by Joan Van Ark, called and said she had a crisis.

She said her car was broken. It turned out to be a flat tire. Miss Archer went to retrieve her and bring her to work, as Poston was to shoot a big fashion spread that day.

Miss Archer — seen last season as a staff daughter on ABC's first flop version of "The Nancy Walker Show" — always runs such errands for the model, we learned, and seems to hate the chore.

So when she and Miss Van Ark arrived at the office, verbal sniping occurred. Miss Van Ark demanded an apology. Miss Archer refused. Miss Van Ark demanded she be fired. Poston said, "What?"

Miss Archer quit. For the rest of the show, Poston, playing an absent-minded genius, floundered about. So did the rest of the cast. They seemed to be waiting for Godot or a gag. Neither arrived.

A neighbor of Our Couple, sporting a T-shirt that said "Pools by Ken," did arrive, though. He said he'd had a fight with his wife over some hot dogs. Then he withdrew.

Poston had the best line in the show. For the record, it went: "A vacation. That's what you need, a nice long vacation. Take an hour."

The actors were okay. But the script by Tom Patchett and Jay Tarses, creators of the series, needed something extra, like maybe a visit to a bonfire.

It was feeble, weaker than even the weakest sitcom of the mid-1950s. Unless drastic improvement occurs, I fear the outlook for "We've Got Each Other" is oh, no, you don't.

As of today, the "CBS Morning News" has a new co-anchor — the capable Leslie Stahl, who'll do the yawn patrol from Washington while Hughes Rudd continues his fine work from that place where the lights go out.

Ms. Stahl succeeds Bruce Morton. He wanted to return to regular reporting. He'd succeeded Sally Quinn, who fled back to the Washington Post after less than a year of peering at the camera.

Ms. Stahl, arrives quietly, without the lavish buildup CBS News gave Ms. Quinn several years ago. Come to think of it, though, Bruce Morton arrived quietly and without a lavish buildup, too.

I don't know the moral of this. Must everything have a moral?

The Spanish Conquistadors had set up colonies in Cuba and Mexico by the 1520s. They founded the first permanent settlements west of the Mississippi, beginning with Santa Fe in 1610.

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Persons with whom you deal will not all feel up to par; some are working under strain. Offer a helpful word: it will help. Expand efforts effectively.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Some interference with your plans possible, but take it in stride. What you do with your own talents is what counts. Use them well, then note where other puzzle pieces fit.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A fine period for setting new records, aiming at new goals. Express yourself lucidly, gently, but definitely. Leave no room for misunderstandings or doubt.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Increasing advantages indicated, but some may be hidden so you will have to ferret them out for yourself.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Influences mostly favorable. Do not let pressures or tensions hamper steady, well-tempered action. Especially favored: job and financial affairs.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): There may be some problem areas in teaching, writing and (or) research, but matters can be worked out if you are as calm and meticulous as you usually are.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Favorable aspects stimulate your creative abilities and your imagination, but don't let the latter run "wild." Maintain a down-to-earth attitude even as your ambitions soar.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Some precautions needed. Be especially careful with figures, accounts, estimates, handling the affairs of others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Endeavors of the past should bring reward now. Keep up the good work! Handle all obligations in your able fashion, your normal way. No doubt about possibilities!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Balance earnings against expenditures; also study where tactics, moves should be altered, stepped up or retarded. Heed sound advice; shun needless discussion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): With your keenness for detecting flaws and your good humor, you can solve practically all of the "little" quandaries waiting to trip the unthinking.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Believe in yourself and in the soundness of your most worthwhile endeavors. Curb a tendency to downgrade yourself and your efforts.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly versatile, mentally active and exceptionally creative in all that you undertake. You are reserved, dignified and unusually intuitive. In fact, this intuition often becomes accurate foresight and tells you when to take important steps and this, combined with your forthright manner and objective thinking, can lead to tremendous success and contentment. Fields in which you could achieve notably: the law, statesmanship, music, literature, education, the theater. No matter what career you choose, however, you always give an artistic touch to the commonplace. Birthdate of: Rutherford B. Hayes, 19th Pres., U.S.A.

New Director

RICHMONT, Va. (AP) — L. Bradford Boynton has been appointed managing director of the 1977-78 season of the Virginia Museum Theater Repertory Company after two years as resident designer of the Stage Center here, museum officials have announced.

The 34-year-old native of Deep Creek, Va., graduated from Virginia Commonwealth University and received a master of fine arts degree in theater design from that institution, according to R. Peter Mooz, museum director.

Boynton studied art and dance for eight years at the Norfolk Museum of Fine arts and art restoration at the Metropolitan Museum in New York. He began his theater career in 1958 as a designer for the Little Theater in Portsmouth.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Some interference with your plans possible, but take it in stride. What you do with your own talents is what counts. Use them well, then note where other puzzle pieces fit.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A fine period for setting new records, aiming at new goals. Express yourself lucidly, gently, but definitely. Leave no room for misunderstandings or doubt.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Increasing advantages indicated, but some may be hidden so you will have to ferret them out for yourself.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Influences mostly favorable. Do not let pressures or tensions hamper steady, well-tempered action. Especially favored: job and financial affairs.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): There may be some problem areas in teaching, writing and (or) research, but matters can be worked out if you are as calm and meticulous as you usually are.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Favorable aspects stimulate your creative abilities and your imagination, but don't let the latter run "wild." Maintain a down-to-earth attitude even as your ambitions soar.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Some precautions needed. Be especially careful with figures, accounts, estimates, handling the affairs of others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): Endeavors of the past should bring reward now. Keep up the good work! Handle all obligations in your able fashion, your normal way. No doubt about possibilities!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 23): Balance earnings against expenditures; also study where tactics, moves should be altered, stepped up or retarded. Heed sound advice; shun needless discussion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 24 to Feb. 23): With your keenness for detecting flaws and your good humor, you can solve practically all of the "little" quandaries waiting to trip the unthinking.

PISCES (Feb. 24 to Mar. 23): Believe in yourself and in the soundness of your most worthwhile endeavors. Curb a tendency to downgrade yourself and your efforts.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly versatile, mentally active and exceptionally creative in all that you undertake. You are reserved, dignified and unusually intuitive. In fact, this intuition often becomes accurate foresight and tells you when to take important steps and this, combined with your forthright manner and objective thinking, can lead to tremendous success and contentment. Fields in which you could achieve notably: the law, statesmanship, music, literature, education, the theater. No matter what career you choose, however, you always give an artistic touch to the commonplace. Birthdate of: Rutherford B. Hayes, 19th Pres., U.S.A.

New Director
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — L. Bradford Boynton has been appointed managing director of the 1977-78 season of the Virginia Museum Theater Repertory Company after two years as resident designer of the Stage Center here, museum officials have announced.

The 34-year-old native of Deep Creek, Va., graduated from Virginia Commonwealth University and received a master of fine arts degree in theater design from that institution, according to R. Peter Mooz, museum director.

Boynton studied art and dance for eight years at the Norfolk Museum of Fine Arts and art restoration at the Metropolitan Museum in New York. He began his theater career in 1958 as a designer for the Little Theater in Portsmouth.

Specializes In Antique Autos

WILLOUGHBY (AP) — It wasn't too long ago that salesman Bob Butcher sold a used car for an $8,700 profit.
It wasn't your average used car, but
Butcher is not your average salesman.
He deals in antiques.

That particular sale was a 1940 Ford convertible that he bought for $9,800 and kept almost a year. It finally went for $18,500.

Butcher started in the business as a hobby collector of old cars. He opened up shop as Antique Auto, Inc., in September, 1975.

"The demand is so great for certain cars, they are extremely difficult to find and the investment possibilities are growing every day," he said.

—A 15-year-old Ford Thunderbird may bring up to $10,000.

—The 1955-57 Thunderbirds are selling for up to $20,000.

—A 1965 Ford Mustang has gone for $4,100.

Not any old car will bring that kind of money. But Butcher has the business down to a science.

He prefers to deal in what he terms
"classic" or "special interest" cars.
Classics are models which usually were in limited production for only one or two years.

Special interest cars are of some unusual design that are designated as future classics by the Special Interest
Auto Club of America.

"Classics, for the most part, bring more money than antiques," Butcher said.

Some production models of recent years can be designated as future classics and Butcher said these are the cars people should invest in.

As examples, he cites the Continental Mark III produced in 1969-71, and the 1953 Buick.

Butcher has his own private collection of eight cars, ranging from a model "T" Ford to a Rolls Royce. He said they have doubled or tripled in value because they are irreplaceable.

By the end of his first year in business, he had sold 160 old cars.

"People buy cars they can relate to," he said.

"I had one woman buy a car for her husband for their anniversary," he said. "It was like the first new car she and her husband bought years ago."

"I had to deliver it with a big bow on it at 3 a.m. so he could wake up and find the car."

New collectors of old cars, he advices, should start out simple with a car that doesn't need much mechanical or restoration work.

"In this way, they ease into the hobby and learn more about it," he said. "If they buy a first auto which requires too much work they may become discouraged."

Specializes In Antique Autos

WILLOUGHBY (AP) — It wasn't too long ago that salesman Bob Butcher sold a used car for an $8,700 profit.

It wasn't your average used car, but Butcher is not your average salesman. He deals in antiques.

That particular sale was a 1940 Ford convertible that he bought for $9,800 and kept almost a year. It finally went for $18,500.

Butcher started in the business as a hobby collector of old cars. He opened up shop as Antique Auto, Inc., in September, 1975.

"The demand is so great for certain cars, they are extremely difficult to find and the investment possibilities are growing every day," he said.

A 15-year-old Ford Thunderbird may bring up to $10,000.

The 1955-57 Thunderbirds are selling for up to $20,000.

A 1965 Ford Mustang has gone for $4,100.

Not any old car will bring that kind of money. But Butcher has the business down to a science.

He prefers to deal in what he terms "classic" or "special interest" cars. Classics are models which usually were in limited production for only one or two years.

Special interest cars are of some unusual design that are designated as future classics by the Special Interest Auto Club of America.

"Classics, for the most part, bring more money than antiques," Butcher said.

Some production models of recent years can be designated as future classics and Butcher said these are the cars people should invest in.

As examples, he cites the Continental Mark III produced in 1969-71, and the 1953 Buick.

Butcher has his own private collection of eight cars, ranging from a model "T" Ford to a Rolls Royce. He said they have doubled or tripled in value because they are irreplaceable.

By the end of his first year in business, he had sold 160 old cars.

"People buy cars they can relate to," he said.

"I had one woman buy a car for her husband for their anniversary," he said. "It was like the first new car she and her husband bought years ago."

"I had to deliver it with a big bow on it at 3 a.m. so he could wake up and find the car."

New collectors of old cars, he advises, should start out simple with a car that doesn't need much mechanical or restoration work.

"In this way, they ease into the hobby and learn more about it," he said. "If they buy a first auto which requires too much work they may become discouraged."

Jobs And Progress Theme Threatened By Layoffs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' "jobs and progress" theme that he has used in three terms is being threatened by massive layoffs in the steel and tire industry.

It has him running around Ohio like a Dutchman putting fingers in all the holes of a leaking dike.

Or is he running for re-election?

Rhodes has been coy in replying to questions about whether he will seek an unprecedented fourth four-year term next year. But his reaction to nearly 7,000 announced layoffs in one week was typically political.

When three steel mills and Goodyear Rubber Co., announced large layoffs last week he quickly arranged visits to affected cities.

Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., Republic Steel and U.S. Steel disclosed layoffs and cutbacks of nearly 5,500 jobs, mostly in the Youngstown area.

With an entourage of economic and employment officials on his coattails, Rhodes quickly flew to northeast Ohio.

He assured residents of Youngstown, Campbell and Struthers, all hard hit by the layoffs, that "Ohio will not let you down."

He did the same thing when ARMCO Steel disclosed it was vacating 600 jobs in Middletown.

"This is the most serious situation in Ohio," Rhodes told a hastily assembled gathering of Middletown city officials at city hall. He said larger cities were better able to absorb the layoffs than one the size of Middletown, population 48,000.

He blamed the problem on federal rules and laws and promised to try to assemble governors of steel producing states in a meeting with President Carter.

"Steel is a must for this country and we must do everything we can to help," he said.

He immediately ordered beefed up facilities for state unemployment offices in affected cities. Otherwise he offered sympathy and promised to work on Carter about steel imports and delaying environmental laws.

"This is a cruel injustice and we want to do everything we can to help," he said.

Then he flew to Akron for a closed meeting with Charles J. Pilliod Jr., board chairman for Goodyear, which had announced 654 layoffs it blamed on earlier over production.

After the meeting, Rhodes called Goodyear one of the most important industries in Ohio.

"If we can get the Ohio based industries to expand in Ohio we can take up slack in unemployment among our people," he said. "I have confidence at the present time that the leadership of the Ohio General Assembly will come forth with a program to protect and help Ohio industry to expand."

"We must compete with other states and if we can compete we can get an additional 100,000 jobs in the state in the next couple of years, new jobs."

Solon Wants Weather Service Investigated

CINCINNATI (AP) — A U.S. congressman wants an investigation to determine why the U.S. Weather Service was unable to provide more than a 10-minute warning of a small tornado that caused $2 million damage in Cincinnati Saturday.

Saying "it was a case of somebody being asleep," U.S. Rep. Thomas A. Luken, D-Ohio, said Sunday he has asked the Commerce Department to investigate the weather service's emergency alert system.

John Robinson, chief meteorologist for the Cincinnati weather service office, confirmed that federal regulations prohibit an activating device be initiated by his men, since civil defense was not the weather service's responsibility.

Congressman Luken was critical of the division of responsibility and lack of auxiliary generators to prevent the sirens from sounding.

"If we had had a nuclear attack, apparently we would have had no warning," he said. He and several other officials have asked Gov. James A. Rhodes to declare the area a disaster zone.

The mayor said the blame lies "with the federal government firstly, and the county warning system secondly."

Meanwhile, cleanup operations continued today in Monfort Heights and Madisonville, where high winds caused minor damage. Rains accompanied the storm were blamed for causing an explosion and a $200,000 fire at the Hilton-Davis Chemical Co., in Golf Manor.

Senate Filibuster Enters 3rd Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two liberal senators filibustering to keep natural gas under federal control say they are within two votes of victory as the Senate deadlock enters its third week.

Although two tests have demonstrated that supporters of natural gas deregulation have the votes to win, Democratic Sens. James Abourezk of South Dakota and Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio are vowing to continue their filibuster in the name of lower home heating costs.

"We are good for another 10 days or two weeks," Abourezk said after a rare weekend Senate session.

Abourezk and Metzenbaum are pinning their hopes on a tie floor vote.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale would then have to break the deadlock — by voting for the Carter administration's plan to continue controls.

In an important vote last week, supporters of deregulation won 50 to 44.

But for a potential parliamentary advantage, Abourezk voted with his opponents, meaning the true vote was 49 to 45.

With Sen. Pete Domenici, R.N.M., willing to switch and vote for the federal controls if his vote would make the difference, that leaves a two-vote margin to reach a tie.

Predicting that some minds would be changed over the weekend, Abourezk said he thinks "the momentum is in our direction."

Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd said he expected the issue to be decided by Wednesday. But as long as the filibustering senators refuse to agree to a time for a vote, there is little Byrd can do to force the issue.

The Carter administration had originally proposed raising the price ceiling on natural gas to $1.75 per thousand cubic feet, but the President has since agreed to a compromise of $2.03.

The President's allies argue that while gas producers may need higher prices to provide enough incentive to find new reserves, gas does not need to be deregulated.

And a final congressional decision must await action by a House-Senate conference committee.

Because the House has approved Carter's $1.75 ceiling, Senate supporters of deregulation quietly acknowledge they anticipate a joint committee will vote a higher ceiling than $1.75, but will not approve deregulation.

As the Senate resumed the seemingly endless natural gas debate that has blocked almost all other business, the House scheduled work on a comprehensive proposal to make it easier for labor unions to organize.

The measure would punish recalcitrant companies that illegally block union recruiting efforts, speed procedures for joining unions and require immediate reinstatement of any worker fired for union activity.

One of the few non-energy issues getting any attention in the Senate is the new Panama Canal treaty.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee holds its third and final week of hearings on treaty this week, with former President Gerald R. Ford, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and former Secretaries of State Dean Rusk and Henry A. Kissinger invited to testify. A ratification vote is not expected until next year, however.

Forecast For The Fields

By The Associated Press

Here is the agriculture weather advisory for Ohio provided by the National Weather Service:

A cool high pressure system centered in the upper Mississippi Valley this morning will be moving southeastward across the Great Lakes region and the Ohio Valley the next two days. Early morning temperatures will be quite cool Tuesday and Wednesday. Temperatures will be warmer Thursday and showers are expected to return, then clear Friday with more cool weather.

FIELD OPERATIONS — A return to field operations will be slow due to the wet soils. Moisture reduction will be steady the next few days, but a chance of showers on Thursday may produce further delays. Some frost is possible in the northwest section of Ohio by early Tuesday morning and temperatures could dip to the mid 30s and skies will be clear allowing ground level temperatures to drop to near 30. Wednesday morning will also be quite cool with a chance of frost across much of the state.

HARVESTING — Steady drying of corn and soybeans will continue through Wednesday. Showers again on Thursday may keep harvesting of soybeans at a standstill this week. Corn harvest on well drained soils may be possible this week. However, poorly drained soils will stay quite soft.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES — Cool temperatures will prevail this week and harvest of tree and vine fruit should be possible. Ground level crops will be difficult to get because of the wetness. Picking by machine will be difficult due to a good chance that soils will stay wet and muddy through the week.

Catholic Cardinal Hospitalized

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński, the head of the Roman Catholic church in Poland, has been released from a Warsaw hospital after a three-week stay, the official news agency Pap says.

The report, released Sunday, said the 76-year-old cardinal left the hospital Saturday after undergoing an operation.

Details of the operation were not announced. Early reports said he had been hospitalized with jaundice.

"I don't understand how the weather people could track tornados across Indiana for hours, then end up giving us only 10 minutes warning. I'll be kind and say that's very surprising to me," the mayor said.

Liore Maccarone, Hamilton County Civil Defense director, said sirens apparently didn't work in some parts of the city because of a power outage from the storm or malfunctioning telephone circuitry.

Maccarone said he will recommend that the weather service be equipped with a mechanism to activate an immediate alarm "so there is no time lapse at all."

Policy calls for the weather service office to inform the Hamilton County fire tower of the presence of tornados. The fire tower then activates the citywide siren system.

"Four or five years ago we had an activator in the weather office at the meteorologist's disposal. But federal regulations would not allow it and we went to our present plan," Maccarone said.

He praised the old system, saying it saved many lives in the April 3, 1974 tornado that battered the city, leaving

Two students from Pickaway County have been inducted into the Society of Distinguished American High School Students. They are Janet Posey of Circleville High School and Chris Griffith of Logan Elm High School.

The society inducted the students because of their excellence and leadership in church and civic achievements. They represent their church and school in the nation's leading high school honorary.

The students' names will be recorded in the Society's 1977 Membership Registry which features their high school biographies. It is also affiliated with the National Awards Program sponsored by leading universities and colleges.

Miss Posey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Posey, 1160 Dunkel Road. Griffith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffith, 27933 Caldwell Road.

Art Exhibit To Be 'Open Show'

Mrs. James Schoby, will be director of the art show being held during the 71st annual Circleville Pumpkin Show. Serving as assistants will be Mrs. Don Harden and Mrs. Villem Rahe.

Mrs. Schoby has announced a few changes for this year's display. The main change is that the show will be an "Open Show," with photography being a separate division.

Entries are to be made between 1-5 p.m., Tuesday at the Pumpkin Show Building, 124 Watt St.

Adult and youth painting entries must be framed and have sturdy wire for hanging.

All painting and frames must be dry. Youth entries must be matted or framed.

All entries must be the work of the entrant and must be original, not copied or traced from other paintings or drawings. An entry which has previously won an award at Pumpkin Show may not be re-entered.

The director reserves the right to reject any work of art that is, in her opinion, unsuitable for exhibition.

Adults are permitted four entries, and two in photography, for a total of six.

Youth are permitted two entries.

This year a photography division has been added and exhibitors are limited to two entries.

Entries will be released between 12 noon and 2 p.m., October 23.

Solon Wants Weather Service Investigated

CINCINNATI (AP) — A U.S. congressman wants an investigation to determine why the U.S. Weather Service was unable to provide more than a 10-minute warning of a small tornado that caused $2 million damage in Cincinnati Saturday.

Saying "it was a case of somebody being asleep," U.S. Rep. Thomas A. Luken, D-Ohio, said Sunday he has asked the Commerce Department to investigate the weather service's emergency alert system.

The Cincinnati office of the weather service encompasses 224 counties in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

The tornado ripped into the northwest suburb of Monfort Heights at dawn, destroying 12 fashionable homes while injuring 13 persons, none seriously.

Although the weather service detected the twister at 6:50 a.m., and immediately alerted the Cincinnati fire tower, warning sirens did not sound in many sections of the city until around 8 a.m.

Cincinnati Mayor James Luken, brother of the congressman, blamed the weather service for the short notice and was critical of the breakdown in the county warning system.

"I don't understand how the weather people could track tornadoes across Indiana for hours, then end up giving us only 10 minutes warning. I'll be kind and say that's very surprising to me," the mayor said.

Lore Maccarone, Hamilton County Civil Defense director, said sirens apparently didn't work in some parts of the city because of a power outage from the storm or malfunctioning telephone circuitry.

Maccarone said he will recommend that the weather service be equipped with a mechanism to activate an immediate alarm "so there is no time lapse at all."

Policy calls for the weather service office to inform the Hamilton County fire tower of the presence of tornadoes. The fire tower then activates the citywide siren system.

"Four or five years ago we had an activator in the weather office at the meteorologist's disposal. But federal regulations would not allow it and we went to our present plan," Maccarone said.

He praised the old system, saying it saved many lives in the April 3, 1974 tornado that battered the city, leaving five dead.

John Robinson, chief meteorologist for the Cincinnati weather service office, confirmed that federal regulations prohibit an activating device be initiated by his men, since civil defense was not the weather service's responsibility.

Congressman Luken was critical of the division of responsibility and lack of auxiliary generators to prevent the sirens from sounding.

"If we had had a nuclear attack, apparently we would have had no warning," he said. He and several other officials have asked Gov. James A. Rhodes to declare the area a disaster zone.

The mayor said the blame lies "with the federal government firstly, and the county warning system secondly."

Meanwhile, cleanup operations continued today in Monfort Heights and Madisonville, where high winds caused minor damage. Rains accompanying the storm were blamed for causing an explosion and a $200,000 fire at the Hilton-Davis Chemical Co., in Golf Manor.
